'Meg' Weds Commoner Amid Fanfare of Trumpets, Cheers

Bride Has Moment of Stage-Fright But Ancient Ritual Goes Smoothly

London—Princess Margaret today married the man of her heart—untitled Antony Armstrong-Jones—amid a fanfare of silver trumpets and a million cheers.

The bride had a moment of stage-fright in the middle of the ceremony. Within the medieval magnificence of Westminster Abbey, all went smoothly until Margaret began repeating her vows before the throng of 2,068 invited guests and millions listening on radio and watching on television.

When she came to the ancient ritual of pledging herself to Tony, she choked up for a moment.

"For better or worse," intoned the Archbishop of Canterbury.

No reply.

"For better or worse," the archbishop said again.

She then repeated the words quietly, her voice in a lower key than usual. It was part of the pledge by the bride in the Anglican wedding service.

The groom spoke his wedding responses clearly and firmly as he knelt with Margaret before the archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, who pronounced them man and wife at exactly 11:45 a.m.

It was the first time in four centuries that the daughter of an English king had married a commoner.

Outside, a million Londoners and tourists roared cheers for the new couple. It was a warm, sunny day.

The scene in downtown London was one of festive magnificence—stately, crown-topped poles flying silken banners, one arch with 30,000 roses, flags everywhere.

Inside the 900-year-old abbey there was the smell of musk, old stone and wood mingling with the fragrance of spring flowers and French perfume. There were trumpets, the scarlet and gold vestments of the clergy—but most colorful of all was the bride.

Diamond Tiara

A wide diamond tiara blazed on her head. Her gown was of white silk organza—trimmed, high necked, long sleeved and full skirted. A high chignon added inches to her 5 foot 2. A veil of white illusion tulle sprang from each side of her head above the ears, pulled back at the shoulders and falling to the floor.

When the bride choked up, it was the only hitch in a wedding of truly fairytale splendor. It was like the turning of a page of history.

For up until today there was probably the best known bachelor girl in the world—royal, beautiful, rich—but until she met Tony, a girl with a sparkle in her eye but an ache in her heart.

Five years ago she renounced handsome Group

Samuel H. Kaufman, Hiss Perjury Trial Judge, Succumbs

New York — Samuel H. Kaufman, 66, the U.S. district court judge who presided at the first perjury trial of Alger Hiss, died yesterday.

Kaufman retired from the bench in 1955 because of a stroke. Early in his career he gained fame as a special government prosecutor and investigator of frauds and corruption in various federal agencies.

He was appointed to the federal bench in the southern district of New York in 1948.

Farm Tabloid Features Weed Control Story

Weeds flourish during wet weather. Heavy rains and inability of many to till fields, gardens or work lawns has allowed the unwelcome plants time to grow this year.

Tonight's Post-Crescent Country Life tabloid features a story on weed control measures, directions and recommendations for use of weed sprays and tips on how to recognize weeds.

Your Post-Crescent also contains weed notices from municipalities in the Fox Cities area, acting in accordance with state law.

The Post-Crescent Country Life section will be useful to you in reference to ridding fields, gardens and lawns of weeds. Clip it and save it.

U. S. Withholding Strong Protests In Plane Incident

Matter Kept in Diplomatic Circles Pending Result of Official Probe

Washington — Initial U. S. reaction to new Soviet boasts that an American plane was shot down over Russia by a "remarkable rocket" was to keep the matter in official diplomatic channels today.

State department press Officer Lincoln White said there would be no immediate statement on the speech to the wildly cheering supreme Soviet in Moscow by Marshall Andrei A. Grechko.

Grechko said it was on the personal orders of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev that the American plane was destroyed "on the first shot."

Yesterday, when first word of the Russian downing of the plane came in a speech by Khrushchev, the U. S. withheld any strong protest while awaiting more information on the incident, President Eisenhower ordered a swift inquiry, but made no public comment.

White said today U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson had been instructed to ask for information in Moscow and "we'll wait for that."

Severe Protest

Khrushchev said his government "will make a severe protest" to the United States over the alleged violation of its air space, but the communication had not been received last night.

There was no official identification of the craft.

However, indications pointed to a Soviet plane.

Seven Killed in 2-Car Collision On West Coast

Fresno, Calif. — Seven persons were killed early today in a flaming 2-car crash at an intersection near Mendota, about 30 miles west of Fresno.

All seven were in the same car. The other driver, Keith Thomas, 18, was taken to Fresno community hospital in critical condition.

Driver Juventino Tervino Gonzalez and two companions were killed when thrown from the car. The bodies of the other four were found in the rear seat, burned beyond recognition.

The California highway patrol said Thomas' auto, going at high speed, struck the Gonzalez vehicle broadside.

Recover Body of Youth From Well

Ironton, Ohio — Finally getting treacherous sand cleared away after more than 27 hours, rescue workers late last night recovered the body of Warren Payne, 18-year-old high school athlete buried by a well cave-in.

Warren, helping his family dig the well Wednesday in the back yard of their home at Burlington, near here, was laying brick 35 feet beneath the ground when the unsupported well wall gave way near the bottom and six to eight feet of sand poured in on him.

Volunteers and firemen from nearby Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky points rushed to the scene and began frantic digging operations.

Wife Shoots Husband After Quarrel Over Lateness of Dinner

Somerset — A young farm wife shot and fatally wounded her husband Thursday after they quarreled because his dinner meal was not ready on time, St. Croix County Coroner Dr. A. W. Lumberg said.

Field without charge was Mrs. Beverly Gonsler, 23, of route 1, Somerset. She was a police prisoner in a New Richmond hospital where she was under observation.

Her husband, Willis, 25, was sitting in a car when shot.

Voting Rights Bill Signed By President

Eisenhower Calls It an Historic Step Forward

Washington — President Eisenhower signed today the 1960 civil rights bill keyed to new protection for the voting rights of Negroes.

Eisenhower called the act "an historic step forward in the field of civil rights" although congress failed to include some of his recommendations.

The signing was without any extraordinary ceremony.

Two Pens Used

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and Deputy Atty. Gen. Lawrence Walsh came to the White House for it, but there were no other prominent persons invited.

Eisenhower used two pens in signing the bill, giving one to Rogers and the other to Walsh.

The president's statement noted that this is only the second civil rights measure passed by congress in 85 years. He said it, like the 1957 law, was built on recommendations of the administration.

Congress passed the legislation April 21 after months of struggle, marked by one week of around-the-clock senate sessions.

Stubbornly resisting southerners battled the bill by every possible means.

Kept Infant in Cage; Woman Defends Idea

Rockville, Md. — A one-time New York model who kept a baby in a wire sleeping cage outdoors today defended her notions of health and cleanliness.

Mrs. Randolph Glover, 48, said she believed in "fresh air and vegetables and nitrogen from legumes. It happens to be that my ideas are beyond the average person's. Maybe back in the middle ages they'd have called me a witch."

Not Her Child

The 6-month-old baby was not hers. He was Carl F. Hairfield, Jr., child of a couple who came last fall to live as tenants on Mrs. Glover's 120-acre rural spread near here.

Police found the child Wednesday while looking for Mrs. Glover's husband on an assault charge. The baby was asleep in a roomy cage-like structure made of heavy woven wire fencing, suspended about five feet above the ground. Mrs. Glover herself habitually slept in a bed in the meadow in front of her house.

Made a ward of Montgomery county juvenile court, the baby was examined at a hospital. Doctors said "the child was perfectly normal and very clean. It looks as if he had been well kept."

Mrs. Glover added, "he was all wrapped up and happy. . . . For a policeman to come along and unwrap him was cruel. . . . I'd been looking after him with great success until those policemen came along."

Most of Winter

She said she had taken over care of the baby from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Hairfield, shortly after he was born. She said she had put the baby in the outdoor cage to sleep at night through most of the winter, except when it rained or snowed.

The baby will be placed in a foster home pending a hearing on his future.

Torrential Rains Follow Twisters; Stricken Areas Without Lights, Power

Wilburton, Okla. — Ugly black tornadoes killed 25 persons and injured an estimated 200 in slashing attacks on eastern Oklahoma last night.

Torrential rains followed the twisters and hampered rescue efforts. Most of the affected areas were without power and communications.

Eleven victims were counted in this eastern Oklahoma college town and officials feared they would find more bodies under the rubble today. The best estimate of injured, taken to hospitals in several towns, was about 75.

Other tornadoes, all in eastern Oklahoma, also:

Killed five, including 4 members of one family, and injured 16 in the Moffet-Roland area right next to the Arkansas borders near Fort Smith.

Killed three and injured six near Keola.

Church Hit

Killed one person in a rural area north of Sallisaw and killed another persons at a cross roads community near Checotah.

Killed 2 and injured 12 south of Bristow.

Injured 13 persons in the Hoffman community near Henryetta.

Of the 11 persons killed in Wilburton last night, 5 died and scores were injured in the little Calvary Baptist church. Some 57 members had gathered there for a church supper honored students at eastern A and M college here.

Rescue officials feared more dead and injured would be found today since darkness, rain and lack of power and communications hampered search efforts during the night and early morning.

Eighteen blocks of the downtown and eastside residential areas were smashed and battered. Most of the

Committee Sends $3 Billion Money Bill Up for Action

Washington — The house appropriations committee declared the plight of the farmer and rapped administration farm policies today as it approved a $3,964,781,500 money bill for the agriculture department.

This is $170,481,690 less than President Eisenhower had requested for the fiscal year starting July 1 for the department's regular and special activities.

Asserting that "the most serious problem" facing agriculture today is continued overproduction of crops already in surplus supply, the committee called for a new approach to production control.

Commodity Credit

It noted that the government, through the Commodity Credit corporation, already owns $3,200,000,000 worth of surplus commodities. These surplus stocks, it said, should be offered to farmers in consideration for cutting back production.

The results of such a program, the committee said, would be a saving in storage costs, a reduction in price support payments in line with production eliminated, and a saving to farmers through reduction in costs of production for which there is no market.

An alternative approach suggested would be to continue price supports on total production limited to domestic and foreign market needs.

Issues Warning On German Settlement

Red Foreign Minister Says Separate Peace Treaty Will be Signed if Agreement Fails

Moscow — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko warned today that the Soviet Union will sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany if the big four powers fail to agree on an all-German settlement.

Gromyko also said the Soviet Union and its Warsaw pact allies will guard the East German borders. He made it plain the Soviet Union considers West Berlin would lie within that off-limits region, with access to the city then to be controlled by the East German regime which the allies refuse to recognize.

Gromyko, in a speech to the supreme Soviet, was just as firm in expressing determination to drive the western powers out of West Berlin as Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev

Hundreds of Students Riot In Indonesia

Haul Down Dutch Flags at Jakarta Envoy Headquarters

Jakarta, Indonesia — Hundreds of Indonesian students today stormed the Dutch diplomatic headquarters here and the home of the Dutch envoy, breaking up furniture and hauling down Dutch flags.

About 800 students joined in the demonstrations protesting the reinforcement of Dutch military forces in western New Guinea, which Indonesia claims.

Police and mobile guards dispersed the demonstrators after half an hour. No casualties were reported.

Preparing Protest Dutch diplomatic officials were preparing a protest to the Indonesian government.

Indonesian public opinion has been inflamed since the announcement last week that the Dutch were sending land, air and sea reinforcements to the big island east of Indonesia in a "show the flag" demonstration.

The Dutch have steadily rejected Indonesia's angry claims to the Dutch portion of New Guinea.

Today's outburst followed a speech by acting President Djanda warning that "Indonesia is prepared to meet all eventualities consequent upon Dutch reinforcement of military forces in the West Irian (West New Guinea) territory."

The demonstrators split into two groups, with half marching on the Dutch diplomatic mission and the others invading the residence of Dutch Charge D'affaires W. A. Frowein half a mile away.

Author Jailed in South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa — White author Harry Bloom, who wrote the best-selling novel "Episide" and the book for the African musical "King Kong," is among the 1,700 people jailed as suspected subversives since the South African racial crisis erupted into violence six weeks ago.

Rubber Magnate's Son Falls to Death in Cuba

Harvey S. Firestone III's 20-Story Plunge Ruled Suicide by Police in Havana

Havana — Harvey S. Firestone III, crippled scion of the wealthy rubber family, crawled to the balcony of his 20th floor hotel suite last night and plunged to his death.

Cuban authorities ruled him a suicide. He left no note in his room.

The 30-year-old Firestone, a resident of St. Petersburg, Fla., and a spastic confined to a wheelchair, checked into the Havana Hilton hotel at 1:40 p.m. Thursday with his attendant and a cousin, David M. Firestone, 29, of Sarasota, Fla. They planned to stay three days.

Body Found About 7 p.m. Harvey disappeared and his two companions called police.

His body was found on a third-floor parapet above the main entrance of the 25-story turquoise and white skyscraper by opposition politicians and newspapers.

The list included men and women in a number of professions. Most of the detainees have taken an active interest in politics. They include leading members of the small liberal party, the now-outlawed Pan Africanist congress, the African national congress, the congress of democrats, the Indian congress and other political organizations.

Jury Acquits 2nd Defendant

State Had Charged Vengeance in Farmer's Death

Chelsea, Vt. — A trial jury has acquitted a second defendant in what the state charged was a "community vengeance" slaying.

The Orange county court jury Thursday night acquitted Frank W. Carpenter, 44, of manslaughter and kidnapping in the death of wealthy Newbury dairy farmer Orville A. Gibson.

Last October Robert O. Welch, 46, was acquitted of murder in the slaying. Welch has since died.

The state contended in both trials that Gibson was killed on New Year's eve, 1957, at the hands of a group of his neighbors.

Beat Hired Hand Testimony brought out by Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Debevoise indicated resentment rose when Gibson allegedly beat a hired hand for spilling milk on Christmas morning, 1957.

Gibson was last seen alive on Dec. 31 of that year. His body, bound by rope with the knees pulled up against the chest, was found in the Connecticut river 85 days later.

In his closing argument Thursday, the attorney general said: "We don't claim it was a one man job. We know it was done by more than one."

The jury deliberated three hours and 13 minutes. Later, Debevoise said: "We will continue to work on the investigation of this case."

Carpenter's attorney, Richard E. Davis said: "We are certain that Carpenter was not involved in any way. The circumstances were such that they created a suspicion toward Carpenter, but he was not involved."

Davis added Gibson could have committed suicide, even tying himself with the rope.

Two Men Die in Auto Crashes

Milwaukee — Wisconsin's 1960 traffic death toll rose to 218 today as a result of accidents in Ashland and Pepin counties. The total one year ago was 208.

Mark H. Hough, 61, St. Charles, Ill., furniture salesman, was killed Thursday night when his car jumped a curb and smashed into a power pole at Ashland. He suffered a fractured skull.

Ole Rinholm, 77, of Rock Creek in Pepin county died Thursday when the car in which he was a passenger left Highway 85 about eight miles northeast of Durand and struck a tree.

Negro, White Students On Trail for Part in Florida Demonstration

Charge of Unlawful Assembly; Sit-ins Resumed in Austin, Texas

Tallahassee, Fla. — Negro and white students go on trial in Tallahassee, Fla., city court today on charges growing out of an integration demonstration at a white lunch counter which culminated in a riot.

Six white students from Florida State university and six Negroes from Florida A and M university are charged with unlawful assembly in the March 12 demonstrations.

Two of the Negroes were released from jail only Thursday after serving 60-day terms imposed for taking part in an earlier demonstration.

Tallahassee Quiet Officials of both universities cracked down on the students after the March 12 incidents and Tallahassee has been quiet since then.

Negro and white students resumed sit-in demonstrations at two Austin, Texas, eating places. The Negroes were refused service at both places. Officers made no attempt to halt the demonstrations.

At Pine Bluff, Ark., a 75-year-old Negro said a white man knocked him down twice after he drove two Negro children to register for post-

Sleep Controlled By Nervous System

A curious baby was born in Russia. She had two heads, two sets of arms, but only a single body and a single pair of legs. The organs below the stomach were the same for both. Professors Anokin and Speransky who have been observing the twins, believe that they have evidence that sleep is initiated by the nervous system and not as most scientists believe, by poisons in the blood stream. The twins use different nervous systems but the same blood, yet they may sleep at different times.

The fact that not being able to sleep is due to nervous incoordination has always been very apparent to the chiropractor who deals entirely with the spine and nervous system. Past records have shown that adjustments produce relaxation and restful sleep in most cases of insomnia.

The MacDowell Chorus Sings

BY JEAN HAMMOND

Appletonians entering Lawrence Memorial chapel last Sunday evening had music on their minds. Some had heard the MacDowell Chorus before. Others hadn't. Not a few were old timers who a couple of years ago took their places beside some of the men still singing. Several were wives of the men who have said, "Don't make any plans for Monday evening. That's practice night, you know."

"Didn't that man used to sing?" a woman leans close to her husband and nods her rose covered hat toward a gray haired man seated a few rows ahead.

"Yes," the husband replies. "For years and years I can't remember him in the minstrel shows."

The elderly man being discussed sits quietly with folded arms. He waits. Once he was part of it, he still is, in fact, for music is like literature and love. In order to have value it needs both a giver and a recipient. The man has simply become part of the other side of the coin.

Fifty men file onto the stage. They are doctors, mill workers, attorneys, newspapermen, shopkeepers; members of almost any profession you could name. They work with their hands, their brains, and their backs. But one thing they all have in common. They play with their voices.

The program begins. Listeners settle back in their seats. Two middle-aged teachers whom spring has not warmed hold their winter coats about their shoulders. An old lady with white hair and glasses sits in the balcony with her eyes closed. Housewives sink into the bliss of immobility and let the music transport them to other times and other places.

For the most part the singers are ordinary people. Individually they probably are no more or less than the rest of us. But in blending their voices these men become more than the sum of their parts. Through their singing they express the best of human aspiration. What they do not have to give singly they possess in abundance collectively.

Peace and Love

A love song. Male voices rise with depth and longing. "Do you love me, as I love you?" The words and tones are filled with tenderness and need. The audience lets the sound take hold of it. In such music there is peace, love, and exaltation.

The soloist steps to the organ.

"It sounds like church music," a teen-ager says to her mother. "I feel as though I should sing."

"The Navy Hymn" draws up images of great swelling oceans and men struggling to survive upon them. Looking down is an all-powerful God who controls the waves and whom the mighty sea obeys. The voices engender a feeling of spiritual faith, renewal and humility.

Audience Sings

Then the young lady who felt as if she should sing has her chance, as does the rest of the audience. There is no need to "warm them up." They raise their voices with gusto. "Let the Rest of the World Go By," "I Been Workin' on the Railroad," "Home on the Range".

The chorus resumes its place on the stage. They sing with smiles and expressions of exhilaration. What they have given the audience is returning to them and the emotion has become a unified feeling which flows back and forth from listener to performer.

When it is finished people find that "Mac Dowell" has developed two new synonyms. They are "mood" and "magnificence."

This is Appleton. It's where we live.

The Taxpayer in the Dark

There is a striking sentence in the recently agreed statement of principles and objectives of Gov. Nelson's citizens revenue study commission, which has thus far been utterly unable to agree upon the specifics of the state tax reform need.

"Every effort should be made to inform each taxpayer of what he pays to support his government and how this money is used."

But we wonder how devoted to this idea the state administration is in a literal sense.

We note, for example, that the new individual state income tax returns this year have omitted — for the first time within our recollection — the statement of the precise income tax rates prescribed by the legislature.

Our inquiries to the State Department of Taxation suggest that this was decided upon as a matter of editorial license, so to speak. The legislature had changed the method of computing tax liability, through the use of a table of dollar calculations according to tax brackets in $50 steps. The new computation is doubtless a convenience to many citizens. The department, rather thoughtlessly perhaps, decided to save some space to make room for the new material by deleting the percentage tables of tax liability.

We would strongly urge the department to restore this table in the next edition of the tax forms — or run the risk of appearing to be trying to hide something. The income tax is a unique taxing method. The man who is paying it ought to know precisely how it is arranged, and there should be an editor in the department who can find the new inches of space on the form to recapitulate the rates.

"Every effort should be made to inform each taxpayer . . ."

Justice Can be Too Swift

The recent case of a Green Bay man who was held in Brown County jail on a warrant from Upper Michigan, only to have the case dismissed later, points up a problem which troubles newspapers, and should be of general concern.

The man was arrested on request of Michigan authorities, who forwarded a warrant. He was charged along with others with theft of 1,500 trout from a Michigan fish hatchery.

But when the man was brought into court in Green Bay to face extradition to Michigan, the charges were dismissed. The Iron County district attorney's office informed the court that it could find no evidence of the man being guilty of a felony.

In the meantime the defendant had suffered extreme embarrassment. And there is a question whether the amrudge has been completely removed from his reputation in the public's mind.

At Sturgeon Bay recently, two newsstand dealers were charged with selling unsavory magazines. The charges were widely publicized. But when the men came in for their day in court the district attorney requested that the court dismiss the charges. The newsdealers didn't even have an opportunity to testify to present their side of the case. One of them availed himself of the Green Bay newspaper's People's Forum to do so.

In Louisiana a well-known college professor was charged with murdering a divorcee. He resigned his position with the state university. The grand jury considered the case and took no action. As a result the case was dismissed and the professor went free. But he is without a job and certainly his reputation has been grossly damaged. He has been proved neither guilty nor innocent.

From a legal standpoint American citizens supposedly have two protections against such injustices. First, a court is supposed to determine that there is reasonable grounds to believe that a man has committed a crime before a warrant is issued. And secondly a person can file suit for false arrest and claim damages.

But from a practical standpoint in this day of almost instantaneous communications, cases like these result in embarrassment to say the least and there is never complete redress.

Newspapers protect the citizen by never publishing criminal charges until a warrant has been served. But in cases like these more caution is indicated on the part of prosecuting authorities before that step is taken. Sometimes we condemn justice for acting too slowly. But it also can move too swiftly.

No Welcome for Chou

China's Chou En Lai apparently didn't realize that the Indian people really are angry about the encroachments on their territory by Red Chinese troops in the Himalayas. Like Premier Khrushchev, who visited India last February, Chou expected a big welcome. But there were no parades, no bunting, no cheers. The Indian police, in fact, have tried to keep Chou well away from the explosive Indian public.

Chou's purpose in India was to settle what he calls the "temporary differences of opinion" over the borders. The Indians instead see the problem as long-reaching and lasting. They are miffed and suspicious because Premier Nehru didn't mention the problem to them until Chinese troops actually invaded, although Chinese maps had pictured the disputed area as Chinese for almost five years. Prior to Chou's arrival, most Indian newspapers kept up warnings and advice to Nehru about being firm.

The Red Chinese have tried to justify their invasion by insisting there have been no real treaties about the border lines. But the Indians, who throw out the British without many tears, are relying upon treaties which the British signed. This may be an acknowledgement of the duty of the Indian government to honor former treaties. It also is a basis for the Indian refusal to admit that the borderlines are open to negotiation at all. Nehru always has held that discussion on any controversy is healthy but so far his talks with Chou have reached little area of agreement.

Militarily, of course, India cannot hope to compete with Red China for many years. There is increasing Indian pressure upon Nehru to join with southern Asiatic nations in a pact against Chinese encroachments. So far Nehru has objected apparently because of his feeling that India is better off to "go it alone" until it has been built up economically. He obviously fears being drawn into a war with the Chinese instigated by some other country.

But Nehru has become firm about the Indian border and has indicated that in the future, whatever the outcome of the present disputes, the Himalayas will need Indian troops. The days of gentle, tolerant smiles toward the "experiment" in China seem to be over, even in India.

Recreation Boom Demands Planning

From The Denver Post

For some curious reason, the business of play is not taken too seriously by most planners of the west's economic growth. But this is extremely shortsighted in an area where recreation has a sparkling future.

Take just one example.

A recent study of possible benefits of storing water in northern New Mexico on the San Juan river attempted to figure the value added to the area's economy in dollar terms by the various possible uses of the water.

The researchers were somewhat surprised to find that recreation values — the campers, fishermen, boaters, and just plain loafers that a body of water attracts — could conceivably bring in more dollars than agricultural use of the water in that particular area.

Now, such figures are admittedly tentative, and we do not by quoting them wish to invite an angry barrage from irrigation groups, for good planning can provide for all needs.

The point is that recreation is big business, and that the west must plan for it just as seriously as it does to expand its industrial and agricultural resources.

If you're not too tired of hearing about what the world will be like in the year 2,000, this is one expert estimate of recreation demands:

Taking America as a whole, a roughly doubled population, receiving about twice the income after taxes, in a shorter work week or on longer vacations, and traveling about twice the distance the average American jaunts today, will demand about 10 times the recreation facilities we have now.

This is something to think about when we plan the size of our reservoirs, the use of our forests, the reservation of land for parks, and investment in our recreation facilities.

2 Foundries Spew Smoke Over Neenah

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Citizens and Council of Neenah:

Since this beautiful spring season has come upon us, we have inherited an additional blight to our fair city. Now we not only have one but two foundries spilling their stench and filth over an area where at least 4,000 people live. You can clean out flooded basements, but you can't clean out your lungs. The new unit of the Neenah Foundry is spewing out ten times more smoke, gas, dust, dirt and what have you than the old plant. This new plant was to be the most modern and up to date as possible. Cupolas to be higher than the old plant — to spread gas and dust over a larger area of the city. It sure does.

Last Thursday, as I was driving west on West Cecil street, the foundry's beautiful office building was completely obliterated.

The . . . company has a positive cupola dust control system as per their bulletins 202 and 202-A1. The foundry should take advantage of this. Regardless of the cost, it wouldn't cost the foundry anything. They, as well as we, know their customers will pay for it. It all comes

Says Appleton UCS Qualifies As Properly Operated Charity

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We would like to underline the sentence of your editorial on "How to Give Money to Charity" in the April 9, 1960, Post-Crescent, which stated " . . . people giving to charity should examine the pleas for their money with . . . reservations." Such a thorough examination is made each year by the budget committee of your United Community Services of each of the agencies supported through your Red Feather campaign. It would be very difficult for any one person to look at the administration of each of the health, welfare and recreation services of our community to see that they are properly operated.

Each Red Feather agency has an unpaid board of directors, composed of your neighbors and friends, which is responsible for the proper administration of each agency. These Red Feather agency boards report to the UCS budget committee which then determines the amount of funds required to provide the services our community needs. The effectiveness of your United Community Services budget committee is being improved this year through a revision of budget procedures. We feel the job of assuring the best use of each dollar contributed through the Red Feather campaign is as important as the advantages of the combined campaign, which saves us time and money.

Your UCS is also a source of factual information about other health, welfare and recreation agencies which are soliciting funds from Appleton people. The importance of checking upon the organizations asking you for contributions, before you give, is being stressed in various publications (Such as Look) referred to in your editorial. We have in our files or available to us through other sources, information on over 600 philanthropic organizations. Feel free to call us for this information.

Wise giving is essential to sound voluntary philanthropy. We wish to again stress that people giving to charity should examine each plea carefully.

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of May 5 1860

Three months ago, it was generally understood among politicians in this district that James H. Howe, Attorney General of Wisconsin, a very able man, would certainly receive the Shanghai nomination for Congress.

Since that time, events have occurred which render his nomination almost improbable. His opposition to Judge Sloan and Nullification, has, since the result of the Judicial election became known, aroused the resentment of those partial to Sloan's Ointment, and they swear vengeance against Howe if he comes again before the people.

It is almost certain that the Shanghaeis of Columbia, Dodge, Jefferson, Green Lake, Waushara and Fond du Lac counties will work hard against him.

This position of affairs is inducing others to try their hands at obtaining the nomination. Among others, we hear that sly and shrewd A. B. Jackson of this city is laying pipe to scoop the crowd. He is a consistent Nullifier and though not a second Daniel Webster is certainly as well qualified as any Shanghai who has been elected from Wisconsin these many years.

The worst May blizzard on the record books hit Madison that day, burying the city under five inches of snow, indirectly causing injury to one person and seriously hampering traffic.

Donald Frieders succeeded Annabelle Wolf as president of EnAvant Cercle at Appleton High school. Other new officers of the club were Ruth Orblison, vice president and program manager, Ellen Driscoll, secretary, and Gordon Chadek, treasurer.

Recommendation that the city purchase the Freeman property on Lawrence street for use as a crippled children's school was made by the public school relations committee of the council and the contact committee of the school board.

Edward Ruby was elected president of the Menasha Rotary club by the new board of directors. H. W. Jones was named secretary and treasurer.

Carlton Tritt was elected vice president of the Y-Dons. Other officers of the club were Orville LaMarre, president, Kenneth Christen, secretary, and John Goshier, treasurer.

State's Development Based on Tax Policy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Among the subsidiary benefits of the work of the Citizens Revenue Study Commission; in spite of the probable appearance of a new era of frustration, in decision and stalling that has been presented to some critics, is the acceptance of the fact that a state's tax policy tends to have some relation to its economic development.

This was not always accepted in Wisconsin politics. There was a time when those who made such suggestions were laughed off the stand by the principal political leaders of the Commonwealth.

But here is a commission of carefully bi-partisan composition, including some nervous candidates of the liberal Democratic party and some doctrinaire spokesmen for organized labor, as well as men of more moderate identity or acknowledged conservative bias, who agree that one of the precepts that must be followed in rewriting the state revenue system is a decent regard for business development.

The commission has said it plainly, and with sufficient repetition to suggest clearly enough that it wants the idea widely promulgated.

THE WARNING

In one section of its recent — and in other respects somewhat equivocal — progress report it announces, for example, that it wants to "add to the state's good economic factors a balanced tax structure that will compare favorably with neighboring states in order to attract, keep and expand business and employment, thereby increasing personal income."

In its fence-straddling comment on the "broadly based" new tax revenues it may ultimately devise (without choosing between income or sales taxes) it says again:

"The resulting tax should not depart too radically, in fact and in appearance, from the prevailing pattern of other state and local revenue systems."

The idea that state tax policy must be related to "industrial climate" is not accepted easily everywhere in politics.

The other day one of the leading members of the commission produced some figures tending to show that Wisconsin has lagged far behind in industrial expansion, as measured by new construction, some other neighboring states where the "progressivity" factor in local taxation is not so pronounced. He was promptly pounced upon by some skeptical members.

Yet the commission has presented a reason on a by-undited position on the point that tax policy does have a relation to industrial development by agreeing that the state must present the appearance as well as the reality of reasonable conformity to tax conditions elsewhere and especially in competing jurisdictions.

HARD TO MEASURE

This issue is not susceptible to ready test or measurement. Economists may honestly come to different conclusions, as may politicians, although the latter customarily do for less worthy reasons.

The point, however, is not really whether the relation of taxation and industry can be proved, but whether it exists in the popular psychology. There can be no doubt whatever, after scores of demonstrations, that the average businessman in Wisconsin has the idea that he is getting less consideration from the tax laws than his competitors in other states — and that the impression has spread around the country.

In politics issues tend not so much to rely on what is, but what seems to be in the minds of the people, even as beauty is in the eye of the beholder.

At long last Wisconsin appears to be preparing tax revisions with an eye upon economic development, and that is a situation of lasting significance and refreshing novelty.

West German Might Irks Europeans

From The Wichita (Kan.) Eagle

There is a growing concern among some Europeans, and particularly the British, that the West Germans are becoming too uppity for defeated former enemies.

The renewal of anti-Semitism in some sections of Germany is cited; the growing strength of West German armed forces (now with more divisions than any other nation in NATO) is worrisome; the growth of German munitions empires provokes alarm.

Chancellor Adenauer, conscious of the feelings among Europeans who have been overrun by Germans twice within the last 45 years, has sharply criticized West German industrialists for showing camaraderie with East German Communist leader at the recent Leipzig fair.

He said the photographs showing a director of Krupp in friendly talks with East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht are "deplorable and damaging to the interest of the Federal Republic and of the German people."

As long as Adenauer is chancellor of West Germany, this will be the official attitude, and the British, French, Dutch, Danes, etc., needn't worry. The problem is that the chancellor is in his 80's and no one knows what the posture of his successor will be.

brick and masonry buildings stood, but minus glass and store fronts.

The college, on the west side of town, escaped damage.

Dr. G. R. Booth said he saw the twister form in the valley below this county seat-college-touring city of 1,500.

Biggest town hit by the twisters was Sapulpa, an industrial city of 15,000 just southwest of Tulsa.

Killed there were Mrs. Lillie Wright, 62, and Lee Birmingham, 54.

Birmingham's stepson, Henry Bruner, 21, said he heard a report of a tornado.

"I went to the back of the place, where we have a heavy fan, and the fan just took off," he said.

He said he shielded his mother then heard "blocks coming in like a bulldozer pushed them."

"It lasted about three minutes but it seemed like an eternity."

His stepfather, who had been standing outside, was found dead beneath a pile of bricks.

Hardest hit area in Sapulpa was the northwest portion, which is occupied mostly by Negroes. More than 30 homes were destroyed or damaged.

The most concentrated casualty list came from the rural area near Roland.

Killed when a tornado struck their farm home were Mrs. William McGuire and three of her children, a son and two daughters. Six other McGuire children were hospitalized with injuries at a Fort Smith hospital. The husband and father was working in Fort Smith at the time, officers said.

Also killed near Moffett was Leamon Lee Bowren, 33, of West Memphis, Ark. His truck was picked up by a twister along U. S. Highway 64 and slammed to the earth.

Thunderstorms struck wide areas near Oklahoma, with a storm belt extending from northwest Arkansas northward into eastern Iowa as well as into eastern Kansas and north central Texas. The storm moved eastward.

Methodists Keep Ban on Smoking By Clergymen

Denver—(U)—Methodists stood pat today on their rule against clergyman smoking. But some of them attacked the regulation as puritanism, legalism and a double standard.

After arguing the question yesterday for more than an hour, the church's general conference by a vote of 424 to 319 kept the ban on the books.

Then in rapid-fire order, representatives of the 10-million-member denomination approved a broad declaration on world order, appealing for "complete disarmament."

Deploping a tendency of governments to "discredit any proposal for disarmament not made by themselves," the church governing body said "such cynicism" was blocking negotiations.

It also voiced anxiety about the "infringement of individual rights" resulting from compulsory military service.

U. S. Awaiting Outcome of Plane Inquiry

ed to an American weather plane reported missing since Sunday. Its civilian pilot was identified as Francis G. Powers, 30, Pound, Va., a test pilot for the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation.

Powers was flying a high altitude weather research plane of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The state department, while not stating this was the plane involved, said it was possible that the pilot blacked out because of a failure of the craft's oxygen equipment. It said the plane might have continued on automatic pilot and accidentally violated Soviet air space.

NASA said yesterday Powers' plane may be the one shot down by the Soviets, adding that the search for the missing plane could be halted if the Russians would identify the downed craft. It said Powers had reported trouble with his oxygen equipment during the Sunday flight.

There were two discrepancies involving the plane Khrushchev described and the missing NASA plane.

Identifiable Marks Khrushchev said the plane crossed the Soviet border at 5:36 a.m. Sunday. NASA said its plane—if it was the one involved—did not take off from a field near Adana, Turkey, until 8 a.m. Sunday.

Khrushchev said identifiable marks on the plane had been painted out. NASA said the missing U2 plane was painted blue with a 2-foot NASA seal on its tail, topped by a 12-inch wide band of yellow.

A NASA spokesman said the plane was unarmed and its cameras were not designed for reconnaissance but for taking pictures of cloud cover.

NASA had announced on Monday that the craft was missing.

The state department said Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson had been instructed to ask the Soviet government for full information on the fate of the pilot. There was no indication as to when Thompson would make his formal inquiry to the Soviet foreign ministry.

One thing Thompson would not have to inquire about was why the plane was shot down. Khrushchev made that very clear in his speech yesterday to the supreme Soviet (parliament).

Capt. Peter Townsend, her sweetheart since teenage days. She did it because of her strong sense of duty to the church, the throne and the nation.

Shortly before she rode in a glass coach to Westminster Abbey today she spoke to the queen mother of hers and Tony's love, saying:

"Never have two people been so much in love."

And the light of love was in her eyes as she took her measured steps along the long blue carpet spread down the central vastness of the abbey.

Prince Philip, her brother-in-law, was beside her. Cherry-cheeked, she was the picture of a beautiful bride.

Her sparkling white dress—its veil spread out behind her like light spray in the sunshine—set off her beauty.

Armstrong-Jones with his best man, Dr. Roger Gilliat, was waiting for his princess. He sat on the ground floor level of the abbey, actually laughing and even joking until the moment Margaret arrived.

Stepping to her side, Tony walked with her, up the short flight of steps to the pink-cushioned kneeling benches.

Margaret's back was now to the star-studded audience, including her sister, Queen Elizabeth II.

As the newlyweds emerged from the abbey, the throngs reacted with roaring cheers to the smiles of the 29-year-old bride and her 30-year-old husband. So jammed were the crowds that ambulance squads reported 257 casualties, including 171 fainting cases.

In the glass coach, which the groom entered first after a whispered consultation with the bride, they returned to Buckingham palace for a champagne wedding breakfast and to prepare for departure on their Caribbean honeymoon aboard the yacht Britannia.

Some of the crowd broke through police lines and surged against the high iron railings in front of Buckingham palace. From thousands of throats came the cry, "We want Margaret."

Installment Buying Isn't Too High

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A nightmare which many observers have about you and me today is that in the past year, as in 1955, we so often loaded ourselves with installment loans that we now can neither take on much more debt nor safely carry what we own—and Porter's heavy position is a frightening and constant threat to our entire economy.

On the surface the total installment debt figure seems to offer considerable basis for worry. In 1959 we swelled our installment debts by a staggering $5.4 billion, about equal to the all-time record increase in our installment debts in 1955, and we've continued boosting these debts in 1960. The chilling aspect is the apparent similarity to 1955, for after that year of wild on-the-cut buying, particularly of automobiles, we had to take a breather. We did, we put a brake on the entire economy.

Lower Rate of Rise
1. While the dollar total of our installment buying soared last year, the rate of rise was distinctly lower than in 1955. The dollar increases seem the same—well over $5 billion in the two key years. But the 1959 rise represented a growth of only 16 per cent against the 1955 growth of 23 per cent.

Autos to Meals
In 1955 the giant force behind the rise was the upsurge in auto credit as we went crazy about the new car styles, and 36-month auto contracts became widely available for the first time. In that year auto credit jumped almost three times as fast as other credit.

Last year, though, the increase in auto installment loans was only 17 per cent. The giant rises took place in other areas. In 1959 banks throughout the country introduced and heavily promoted for the first time charge-account and check-credit plans. Retail outlets—department stores, mail-order houses—offered for the first time new revolving credit plans and liberalized old plans.

Terms Stabilized
3. While the proportion of auto loans has been declining, credit terms on auto loans also have stabilized.

The 36-month contract, which became widespread in 1955, remains the general maximum today. Auto installment loans are averaging Designed for the Discriminating. Emphasis in this moderate-sized 3-bedroom ranch was placed on luxury. Living space is lavished on a glamorous sunken living room, impressive dining room and breakfast alcove, and a terrace.

Apparent Length of the Living room is 31 feet, from fireplace wall to left side of flagstoned foyer. Center hall is extra wide. Note unusual and efficient location of washer and dryer as an integral part of the kitchen work center.

The House of the Week

Country Club Life at Public Links Prices

BY DAVID L. BOWEN

This 3-bedroom ranch was designed to bring county club elegance into your own life at reasonable cost.

Over-all the plan is not unduly large—1,830 square feet of living space—but it has been arranged to make possible a quiet display of luxury.

The habitable area in this seven-room ranch home is 1,830 square feet. Jalousie porch adds another 200.

There are three bedrooms, with two baths. Ten closets plus a large walk-in provide abundant space for storage.

Over-all dimensions are 80' 8" in width by 33' depth.

ury. Space has been concentrated in a few key areas to provide a core of graciousness at a bargain price.

This concentration of space for luxurious effect can be seen especially in the living room and its appointments. The room is big, measuring 23 by 15 feet. It is positioned so that this size makes the maximum impression on visitors entering the front door. The living room floor is sunken two steps to give a balcony appearance to the flagstoned foyer and dining room.

Visual Length
Just as the 8 by 12 foyer adds visual length to one end of the living room, the dining room opens up the other end. The atmosphere of elegance

Bathroom With Outside Door Handy for Children
Here's an idea for home-planners: Consider providing a door to the outside in a first-floor bathroom. Children can use it in coming in from play without tracking up the house. Also, swimming pools are likely to become commonplace in the next few years and they require bath and dressing facilities that can be reached from the outside.

Metal Laundry Tub Offers Many Uses
A metal laundry tub or utility basket is a handy piece of equipment to take on a camping trip. The tub or basket may be kept in the trunk of the car while en route to the camp site, proving a convenient place for holding other supplies. At the camp site, it may be used for washing, bathing and holding water or fire wood.

continues through the dining room because sliding glass doors across one wall lead the eye still further into a 20-foot jalousie porch.

The winding trail of gracious hospitality doesn't end there. It turns once more to flow out on the open terrace at the rear of the house.

Architect Rudolph Matern, who created B-8 in the House of the Week series, also made the center hall wider than ordinary and gave the owner a lovely master bedroom 18 feet long by 13 wide. This room also has a big walk-in closet and a bath.

Considerable attention was paid to the exterior appearance. The main entrance has wide double doors with full length glass panels on each side. The huge bay window falls at about the center of the front wall. Garage windows are given an interesting boxed effect. Hand-split shingles are used on the bedroom wing and brick veneer covers the balance of the front.

Because of its 80-foot width, the house would require a wide lot. Depth is 33'. Excluding garage and jalousie porch, the living area is 1,830 square feet.

Additional Details
One of the outstanding features of the living room is the raised hearth, fireplace, centered on a paneled wood wall in a picture-type frame of pre-cast concrete. Decorative wrought iron railings trace the raised edges of foyer and dining room.

The bedroom wing is self-contained with ample closets, two baths and linen storage. The bath for the master bedroom is located to serve double duty. It's accessible either from the bedroom or the rear vestibule. The main bath is oversized, with both a tub and a shower, two lavatories, and two windows for maximum light.

Work Localized
U-shaped kitchen lies between the dining and family rooms, making service easy to either one. Family room and kitchen flow into one another and have a combined length of 20 feet. Kitchen bay gives mother an excellent view of rear yard and terrace.

To keep housekeeping steps down, both washer and dryer are built into one arm of the kitchen U, concentrating all appliances in one work center.

A full basement is provided for, offering possibilities for development as a recreation center, dark room, shop or anything else that suits the owner's fancy.

Senior Citizens Needs Differ From in Past

Long Range Building Plans Should Include Homes Designed for Aged

Yesterday's standards for planned pension funds no longer meet the needs of today's youth. In grandfathers' day, retirement of a senior citizen generally centered around a rocking chair on the front porch of his son's home.

But today's senior citizens are much more independent as they enter the relaxation of retirement. As a result of their careful planning, the annual income of the nation's senior citizens is now more than $25 billion. This is an increase of about $5 billion in the last half-dozen years.

Senior citizens—65 years plus—will be prominent among the 14 million new homeowners this year, reports Sheldon Cady, housing authority. "And homes that are suited to their needs must be included in all long-range building plans," he says.

Generally, a senior citizen and his wife desire a smaller home than the one in which they raised their family. They also want a home that is compact, only one story high and one that requires a minimum of laborious maintenance.

Safety Features
"Many safety features are being built in homes especially designed for senior citizens," Cady continues, "and they include such things as hand-bars over the bath tub, non-skid floor coverings, elimination of thresholds and lower-hanging cabinets which reduce reaching."

"New homes of this type also feature exterior safety features such as fire-resistant shingles, and fire-resistant wallboard. Location should be on a level site—with few or no steps in the front walk—and without any sharply pitched slopes."

Cady estimates that the average income for the nation's senior citizens is between $2,500 and $3,000. Most senior citizens who are buying new homes are interested in price ranges that center around $10,000. "About two of every three dollars of a senior citizen's income is from careful-

Simple Funeral Shows Heart of Race Feelings

Friendship Crosses Color Lines, but Can't be Forced

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The day of a Washington correspondent is not always the same. It requires an event of national or international significance to teach a lesson. As Thomas Gray wrote in his famous elegy, truth is often to be found "far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife."

It took the greater part of the day to get there and back — to a little church in the hills of Virginia where were gathered the family and friends of Jim Taylor, a Negro who died last Friday at the age of 74. Until retirement two years ago, he had worked for 15 years on the farm where this writer lives in Virginia. To the outside world this man may be like millions of others — a good Christian whose kindness of nature and simple ways earned for him the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

As the eulogies were spoken by the two Baptist preachers there came to mind a contrast. Only the day before, a useless man was put to death in a gas chamber in California. Around the world the editorials denounced America and our system of justice.

Sincere Service

There came to mind, too, the "inhumane penalty" paid over the past 12 years by the 17-year-old girl sexually assaulted by Caryl Chessman. She still is in a mental hospital and may spend the rest of her life there.

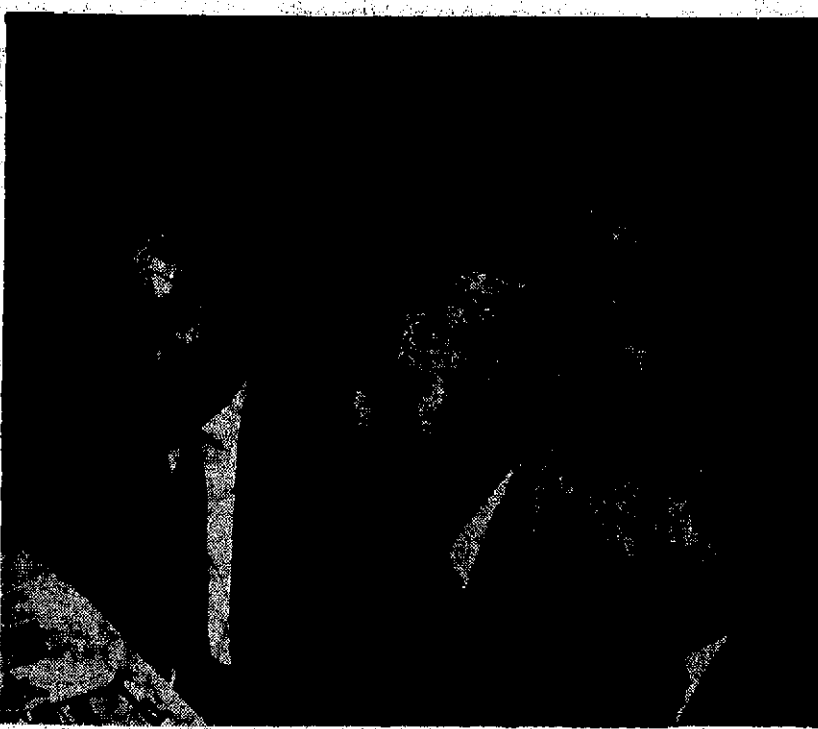

The simple words of the preachers in the Virginia church expressed nobly the facts of life and death as they concerned a good man.

What impressed this writer was the naturalness and sincerity of the service. Messages of sympathy from friends were read aloud. Spiritual hymns were sung. Readings from the scriptures were explained with interpolations that everyone could understand. It was more than an hour of intimate and informal contact between the pulpit and the mourners — something this writer had never before witnessed.

There were perhaps 40 persons in the little church. I asked a southern senator on Capitol Hill whether in the south attendance at such services was frequent. He said it often happened and that there was a deeper feeling of friendship for individual Negroes than might be generally supposed from reading the emotional outbursts in the north in recent months about the segregation controversy.

Inter-Racial Friendship. As one reads the temperate comments about "racism," there comes the disheartening feeling that many things are said in anger that are regrettable. The true southerner does care about the Negro. Talking with many people from the south, one finds that they have throughout their lives felt closer to individual Negroes than is generally believed. It is true that this is sometimes scorned as a "master-and-servant" relationship. But the deep-seated feeling, the willingness to help when sickness and trouble come, the benevolence that reaches out long after the worker has gone to another city or to another task — this could hardly be predicated alone on a "master-and-servant" concept.

When news came of Jim Taylor's death, a white lady in the neighborhood, who had known him for years, burst into tears. I watched her cry.

A Plan for increasing membership and taking a more active part in issues governing building were outlined at a meeting of the Valley Home Builders association this week. From left are R. J. Garvey, vice president of the association; Antone Kuba, standing; Donald Thompson, Washington, D. C., representative of the National Home Builders association; and Chester Meiers.

Rep. Laird Distressed to See Tribal Leader's Criticism of Him

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, today said he was "distressed" to see reports in the Wisconsin press that James G. Frechette, Menominee tribal chairman, claimed that the congressman did not represent the true feelings of the tribe when he introduced a bill asking for an extension in the date of termination of federal supervision of the tribe.

"Statements attributed to Mr. Frechette to the effect that he members of the tribe did not favor an extension of termination beyond the present Dec. 31, 1960, date are in error," Laird declared.

He said he reminded Frechette in a letter on April 22, that "it was the firm conviction of the Menominee Indian tribe assembled in their general council meeting of Feb. 28, 1960, that chaotic conditions would arise if the termination date were to be met on December 31 of this year."

On the basis of this conversation, Laird said, "it was my understanding that I should proceed with preparation of necessary legislation to carry out the requests of the Menominee Indian people."

Laird said his bill waiving the Dec. 31 termination date line was "introduced in the spirit of cooperation."

Cautioning that "the chances of the bill being enacted into law may be remote," Laird told Frechette that "if it had not been introduced, however, I am sure that the Menominee Indian people always would have blamed me for not carrying out the request of their general council action of Feb. 28, 1960."

(A new delegation of four tribal members was named at a general council meeting Tuesday night at Keshena to go to Washington, D.C., in support of Laird's bill to extend the Menominee termination date beyond Dec. 31. Grignon was named as chairman. Frechette was not named as a member.)

In the meantime, Laird has made public a "status report of the Menominee Indians" prepared by George W. Kenote, member of the tribe and former working chairman of the coordinating and negotiating committee.

Kenote lists 12 problems as being still unsettled:

1. Selection and approval of voting trustees and a board of directors for the corporation.

2. Secretarial approval of property — they do need about five hours of sun a day or more.

For a temporary screening, where hedges are lacking, try castor bean or moonflowers.

Even after finishing your landscaping — through the years you will find a need for annuals to fill in plants that drop by the wayside or to fill in holes where a shrub decided not to grow.

Annuals are not a substitute for trees, hedges and permanent blooms — they are temporary color display plants.

Annuals have a brief life. Seed is sown in spring after the soil has warmed up. Flowers appear from late June until frost.

Some of the choice annuals for this purpose are petunias, zinnias, marigolds, sweet alyssum, cornflower, cleome, salpiglossis, scabiosa, and nicotiana.

Annuals may be grown most any place on treeless conditions would arise if the termination date were to be met on December 31 of this year."

He told Frechette in the same letter that "I wish to make it very clear that I did not request the general council of the Menominee Indians to take this action on February 28."

Laird said he was surprised to learn that no one opposed the amendment requesting an extension of time.

"This matter was discussed with members of the tribal delegates on their recent visit to Washington. It was my understanding that the advisory council was going to give further consideration to the general council's request upon their return to the reservation," Laird said.

'Spirit of Cooperation' Laird said Lloyd Andrew, tribal attorney, and Jerry Grignon, a member of the tribal delegation, told him that the advisory council had met and decided to take no action to reverse the decision of the general council.

On the basis of this conversation, Laird said, "it was my understanding that I should proceed with preparation of necessary legislation to carry out the requests of the Menominee Indian people."

Laird said his bill waiving the Dec. 31 termination date line was "introduced in the spirit of cooperation."

Cautioning that "the chances of the bill being enacted into law may be remote," Laird told Frechette that "if it had not been introduced, however, I am sure that the Menominee Indian people always would have blamed me for not carrying out the request of their general council action of Feb. 28, 1960."

(A new delegation of four tribal members was named at a general council meeting Tuesday night at Keshena to go to Washington, D.C., in support of Laird's bill to extend the Menominee termination date beyond Dec. 31. Grignon was named as chairman. Frechette was not named as a member.)

In the meantime, Laird has made public a "status report of the Menominee Indians" prepared by George W. Kenote, member of the tribe and former working chairman of the coordinating and negotiating committee.

Kenote lists 12 problems as being still unsettled:

1. Selection and approval of voting trustees and a board of directors for the corporation.

2. Secretarial approval of property — they do need about five hours of sun a day or more.

For a temporary screening, where hedges are lacking, try castor bean or moonflowers.

Even after finishing your landscaping — through the years you will find a need for annuals to fill in plants that drop by the wayside or to fill in holes where a shrub decided not to grow.

Building Boom Not Developing

High Mortgage Cost, Bad Weather Cited as Cause

The building boom predicted for the 1960's is not developing and probably won't be as extensive as anticipated, according to Donald Thompson, Washington, D.C., a field representative of the National Home Builders association.

Thompson met with 14 members of the Valley Home Builders association this week at the Appleton hotel.

He said the latest predictions set new home building at less than 14 million, or about the same as last year. Thompson pointed out there is a nationwide need for new homes. "They're certainly not standing empty," he said. But, he added, the present

Garbage Cans Play Important Sanitation Role

How do you shop for a garbage can? Few people give this much thought, but they should, because garbage cans play a vital role in home sanitation and family health.

Eating habits of disease-carrying rats and flies run parallel to those of people. Thus, rodents and their wing-economy is discouraging investment in homes. One of the major causes of the lag in the predicted boom is the high cost of mortgages. He cited bad weather during the first months of 1960 as another important factor.

Thompson added that the recently lowered down payment requirement on Federal Housing administration loans might stimulate more building. He said favorable home legislation by congress would increase building.

ed counterparts seek garbage for nourishment. When they don't have access to it, they move to new quarters or die.

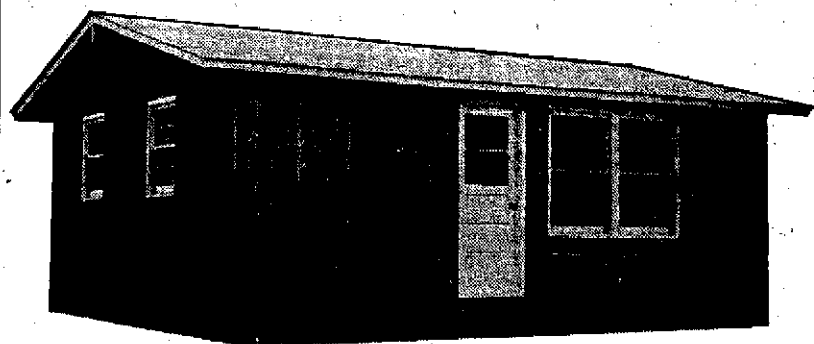

Studies have shown that good garbage cans kept properly covered offer the best protection against rat and fly infestations. Some authorities say this is 75 per cent of the average home. The other 25 per cent involves killing the pests.

A good garbage can, in the opinion of health officers, is one that is made of metal and equipped with a close-fitting cover. Metal is specified because rodents can "gnaw" through any softer material.

Weight is another factor to consider when selecting a garbage can. Some containers used for garbage are so light that wind blows them away when they are empty.

Hardness of material is also important. Any soft material will absorb odors. Steel, of course, is non-porous and cannot absorb odors.

Time Out

Probably the only club in organized baseball with two men on the roster whose shoe sizes are eight sizes apart is the Fox Cities Foxes.

First baseman John "Boog" Powell carries his 6-4, 240-pound frame around on size 13s. Utility man Frank Montgomery, believe it or not, wears a size 5. Frank's shoes require a special order.

The other day a clubhouse wit stuck a tiny Montgomery baseball shoe inside one of Powell's. This was discovered when the team arrived at the park the next day.

"Look, John," cracked Manager Earl Weaver, "your shoes have had babies overnight."

The snow which fell here over the weekend was the first ever seen by Powell, a Florida native.

Montgomery didn't waste much time showing Fox Cities fans his great ability for getting on base. Frank, who reached first in 47 per cent of his plate appearances at class C Aberdeen last summer, drew walks in three of his first four trips in his initial game here Tuesday night.

With spring comes the annual job shifting of men in the coaching profession.

Bob Sutherland, who is being replaced by Menasha's Jack Wippich as Omro High basketball coach, will take the head cage coaching post at Hales Corners. Sutherland came to Omro in 1957.

The vacant Eau Claire Regis football job went to Wittenberg's Bill Donahue, 29, who is winding up four years as grid and wrestling mentor for the Maroons.

Bill, 29, whose footballers had a 3-0-2 CW mark last fall, succeeds Howie Kolstad, the new St. Norbert college grid mentor.

Menasha native Ron Knorr will succeed Bob Spanbauer as Wilson Junior High football coach, stepping up from the assistant's job. Spanbauer will teach in the Madison school system and plans to work on his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin. Bob says he plans to hang up his basketball officiating whistle with the change in location.

Bourbon Wheeler, the fast-balling right-hander of the 1959 Green Bay Bluejays, made a spectacular debut in class AAA ball. He fired a 3-hitter to stop Indianapolis, 3-1. A second-inning home run kept St. Paul's Wheeler from a shutout in his first appearance above class A.

An interested spectator at Wednesday's Shiocton-at-Hortonville High school baseball game was former Polar Bear star Larry Huebner. Larry was in town with the Cedar Rapids Braves for their series with the Fox Cities Foxes. Larry (0-1) took a couple of his Braves teammates with him to Hortonville.

The Lawrence college golfers' trip to Beloit Saturday was termed a "lost weekend" by Coach Bernie Hesselton.

The Viking-Buc match was rained out after nine cold wet and windy holes. The Lawrence delegation then drove the approximately 150 miles back to Appleton in wet clothes.

Former Oshkosh Giant Manager Dave Garcia still thinks of Hortonville's Dennis Sommers as a good major league prospect.

Sommers hit just 214 for Michigan City in the class D Midwest league and he's not batting much better for Eugene (Ore.) in the class B Northwest circuit this spring. Garcia said at Goodland field earlier this week.

Dave, a San Francisco Giant scout, asserts that Sommers is improving rapidly defensively, and is becoming an outstanding receiver.

An 18-year-old bowling sensation is blossoming in Marion. She's Carol Lubinski, daughter of John Lubinski, one of the proprietors of the Marion Recreation alleys.

Carol blasted a 640 series this season, the best set ever rolled by a woman at the Marion Recreation.

Jay Van Rhee and Ralph Bernardini, who worked Foxes' Three-I league games in 1958 and '59 have both retired as umpires. Madcap Max Stone was released after last season.

Returnees from last year include Bill Bartley, Gerry Carlton, George Sosnak and Oshkosh's "Dutch" Rennert. New faces include Bill Sullivan, who was in the league for several days last summer before becoming ill, Emil Cote, from the Pioneer league, and Fred Blanford, Northern league.

Billy Martin, Cincinnati second baseman, slides across home plate, dumping Giants catcher Hobie Landrith who is about to land on his stomach, reaching for the ball. The action came in the sixth inning of Thursday's game in San Francisco after Martin had doubled. Bob Purkey singled to center and Martin was safe on Willie Mays' bad throw to the plate. The Reds won, 4-3.

Doctors Agree That Hazards of Scholastic Sports Aren't Too Great

Game-Type Drill Saturday Final Intra-Squad Tilt

Madison — Four inexperienced quarterbacks get a game type test Saturday in the final intra-squad scrimmage for Wisconsin's football candidates.

Tom Mettlich is the only potential signal caller who has a college game appearance to his credit. He was in once last fall, completing his only forward pass attempted.

The other holdover possibility is Ron Vanderkelen, the highest of the four candidates. Picking a quarterback for this fall's starting lineup is one of Coach Milt Bruhn's most pressing problems. Dale Hackbart, a mainstay in the position the past three seasons, has completed eligibility.

It's likely Jim Bakken, a junior who appeared in last fall's lineup as Hackbart's understudy, will succeed him. But Bakken is playing college baseball this spring and won't be back in the grid camp until September.

Green Bay's John Fabry, who appears to have the best all-around ability at the post, and Ron Carlson are main fresh contenders for a signal calling assignment.

Redskins Deal Renfro For Steelers' Lasse

Washington — The Washington Redskins today traded veteran defensive tackle Will Renfro and an undisclosed draft choice to the Pittsburgh Steelers for line backer Dick Lasse.

Lasse, 25, is a 230-pound year veteran of the National Football league and is expected to bolster the Redskins linebacking corps. Lasse is a graduate of Syracuse university.

But Wisconsin Physicians Say More Can Be Done to Stem Deaths, Injuries

Milwaukee — Physicians would not be able to compete and warned parents against permitting youngsters to rush into supervised sports too soon.

Dr. P. W. Lumberg of Glenwood City in St. Croix county warned that "some doctors still run an entire team through a physical in one afternoon." He said that creates the possibility of overlooking a defect which could conceivably prove injurious, even fatal.

Dr. C. G. Roznechek of Madison said, "There is too much good to be gained from all sports, including boxing, to abandon a program because of a few isolated incidents." Two of the recent deaths stemmed from boxing, the third from track.

"Old aggravated injuries are the worst," said Dr. L. W. Schwartz of Milwaukee. He said that when an elbow or knee is remjured, arthritic or rheumatic conditions are bound to set in. He said there is no surgery to heal them.

Babe Ruth Loop Try-Outs Start Saturday

Appleton's Babe Ruth baseball league will launch its program Saturday with try-outs for boys in the 13-year-old group at the Southside Athletic club diamond.

Two sessions—at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m.—are scheduled. Boys are being asked to display their registration numbers on the backs of their shirts or jackets (in black crayon on an 8 by 10 piece of white cloth).

The Babe Ruth program, for boys 13-15 years of age, is a continuation of Little League baseball. Those who still haven't registered may do so Saturday at the SSAC.

Try-outs for the older age groups (14 and 15) will be held later, with notification to come by phone. League play will begin June 7, with a 15-game schedule planned.

The athletic group, in a unanimous action, have urged continuation of boxing as an intercollegiate sport. The action was proposed by baseball coach Dymie Mansfield.

A proposal to abolish the sport has been under consideration by the athletic board since a ring injury April 9 took the life of boxer Charlie Mohr. A similar proposal is expected to come before the UW faculty Monday.

Most Baseball Leaders Blast Estes' Bill

ball, hockey and basketball. The supreme court has held that baseball is exempt, but that professional football is subject to anti-trust laws.

Kefauver said his bill, among other things, would:

1. Make it easier for the new Continental league to obtain the necessary playing talent for its proposed start in 1961.

2. Prevent hoarding of talent by a few clubs, giving promising players a better chance to make good in the major leagues and equalizing competition.

3. Give minor league players some choice as to which major league team to play for.

Control Many More

In the off-season, major league rosters now are limited to 40 players, but through minor league teams they can control many more.

Kefauver says his anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee has evidence that rich and powerful clubs have controlled as many as 450 players in the past.

Only one baseball executive, President Phil Wrigley, Jr., of the Cubs expressed himself in favor of the bill.

Frick said he was opposed to the bill on four counts. He stressed that such a bill constitutes "confiscation of property," discriminates between "the established clubs and any proposed new organization," confines baseball to a "legislative straight jacket," and "kills off all competition" in the established leagues as well as in any new leagues.

Other comments

Giles "I have not studied the details of the bill but I would hope congress would not seriously consider legislation which would depart so far from our free enterprise system by legislating operational rules and even price fixing. This would do great harm to a great game, with the public and the players the eventual loser."

Birdie Tebbetts, general manager, Braves "I have always maintained any legislation which prevents us from bringing outstanding boys into baseball is detrimental to the best interests of baseball and will lower the standards we have in professional baseball."

Dr. P. W. Lumberg of Glenwood City in St. Croix county warned that "some doctors still run an entire team through a physical in one afternoon." He said that creates the possibility of overlooking a defect which could conceivably prove injurious, even fatal.

Dr. C. G. Roznechek of Madison said, "There is too much good to be gained from all sports, including boxing, to abandon a program because of a few isolated incidents." Two of the recent deaths stemmed from boxing, the third from track.

Heart Attack, Induced By Over-Exertion, Ruled Cause of Track Death

Juneau — The Dodge county coroner ruled Thursday that a heart attack induced by over exertion while practicing a running event with the track team caused the death of a 15-year-old Mayville High school freshman.

Danny Gleisner collapsed and died Monday on the athletic field after finishing the 220-yard dash.

Dr. Harold Heath announced the cause of death following microscopic examination of heart tissues. An autopsy Monday night failed to determine the cause.

Weary Mound Staff Is Chief Cub Problem, Says Boudreau

Chicago — It took new Chicago Cub Manager Lou Boudreau just one game to pinpoint his problem—need of rested starting pitchers.

After bowing in with a 9-7 loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday, Boudreau conceded it would be a tough struggle to get a weary Cub mound staff into shape.

"Unless we get some good 8-inning jobs by our starters, we're in trouble," said Boudreau, who planned to send Dick Drott against Milwaukee's Warren Spahn in Wrigley field today. The Cubs have only two complete game pitching feats to date.

Boudreau pointed out that his No. 1 reliever, Don Elston, was overworked and needed three or four days rest.

"We probably need to deal for a pitcher, but we're not going to get panicked into accepting any kind of a pitcher," said Boudreau. "We don't expect anybody to give us a front line thrower."

The successor to Charley Grimm, who Thursday took over Boudreau's radio job as a Cub color commentator, hinted he would like to get a pitcher like Ernie Broglio of the St. Louis Cardinals.

"There's one thing I know," said Boudreau. "When you have a tired starting staff, you're whipped. I'd rather have a tired bullpen staff."

Tompson Has Favorite's Role For Derby

Orrie And Bally Ache could well go postward as the favorite of the crowd of 100,000.

Tompson, although an easy winner of the Santa Anita derby and even more impressive in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland eight days ago, can't match the won-lost and money-earned record of his rival.

Bally Ache and Tompon clashed three times at the close of the 1959 season in the three races—the Cowdin, Champagne and Garden State stakes—they both bowed to Warfare But in horse against-horse rivalry Bally Ache holds a 2-1 edge over Tompon's son of Tom Fool.

A victory for any other horse Saturday in the otherwise mediocre field would be a real upset. The field was stripped of much of its class in recent weeks by the withdrawal because of injuries of Warfare, Weatherwise, A. I. Hands, Noble Noor, Never Give In and Beau Purple.

Only Others

Except for Tompon and Bally Ache the only others given any kind of consideration were Venetian Way from Isaac Blumberg's Sunny Blue farm and Victoria Park, E. P. Taylor's flashy Canadian hope.

Rounding out the field for America's glamor race, which will be broadcast and telecast by CBS from 4:15 to 4:45 p. m. CDT, are Henrijan, Spring Broker, Bourbon Prince, Divine Comedy, Lullah, Tony Graff, Yomoka, Cuvier Relic and Fighting Hodge.

In the draw for post positions, Bally Ache drew a favored No. 3 stall in the starting gate. Tompon was not so fortunate, he drew No. 14.

Venetian Way and Victoria Park also fared badly in the draw. They'll start from No. 10 and No. 12, respectively.

Freedom Pin Loops' Banquet Is Wednesday

All the bowling leagues at Freedom's Ludwig lanes will have a season's-end banquet at 6:30 p. m. today at Van Abel's, Hollandtown.

Trophies and prize money in all six leagues will be awarded.

Greenville Merchants Set Sunday Workout

The Greenville Merchants baseball team will practice Sunday afternoon, starting at 2 p. m., at the Greenville diamond.

Players interested in trying out for the team are invited to attend.

Paul Russo's Car Displays New Gadget

Fin on Cockpit May Hike Speeds Through Turns

Indianapolis — (AP) — Paul Russo, one time resident of Kenosha Wis., who is a veteran of 15 Memorial day races at the Indianapolis Motor speedway, hopes to win for the first time May 30 with a gadget invented by two airplane test pilots.

Russo's ninth-place car of last year, owned by Fred Gerhardt of Fresno Calif., arrived at the track Thursday with a big fin built along the left side of the cockpit.

Russo said wind tunnel tests have indicated the movable fin, 36 by 30 inches may increase speed through the turns as much as five miles an hour. It is expected to nullify about 200 pounds of the car's centrifugal force at 130 miles an hour.

The inventors were test pilots Bob Little of St. Louis and the late Zeke Meulsbach, killed recently in a crash at Edwards Air Force base.

Russo recently moved to Fortville, Ind., from Webster Groves, Mo.

Pinson Steals Three Bases Against Giants

San Francisco — (AP) — The San Francisco Giants played by the Cincinnati Reds and especially by Vada Pinson, take on the second installment of double trouble tonight as they open a 3-game set against league leading Pittsburgh.

The Reds dumped the Giants, 4-3 Thursday for a 2-game series sweep and the first time the San Francisco club has lost two in a row this year.

Pinson stole three bases, two in the eighth inning setting up his winning run on a sacrifice fly by Willie Jones.

Giants Manager Bill Rigney called on his ace right-hander Sam Jones to challenge the league leaders, two games in front.

Jones has a 2-2 record and was a 21-game winner last year. The Pirates' starter, right-hander Vern Law, is doing a bit better. He is 4-0 with four complete games in four starts.

Ragan, Whitt Whack Five Shots Off Par

Golf Tourney
By One Stroke

Las Vegas, Nev. — Led by Dave Ragan and Don Whitt, two capable but relatively unknown professionals, the field of 21 select players headed into the second round of the $42,000 Tournament of Champions today.

Ragan, 34, from Orlando, Fla., and Whitt, 28, from Borrego Springs, Calif., whacked five strokes off par 72 Thursday.

As play resumed over the 7,000-yard, par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country club course, the two were one stroke ahead of Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and veteran Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La.

Arnold Palmer, the ruling masters champion and pre-tournament favorite here, was at even par 72, along with defending champion

Mike Souchak and Eric Monti of Los Angeles. U. S. Open champion Billy Casper, Jr., shot a 73, as did Tom Nisport and George Bayer.

Gene Littler, who won this rich event three straight years, had a 73, highest of the round.

Californian's 714 Is Good for Fourth Place in Tourney

Toledo, Ohio — Eugene Elkins produced the only major standstill change in the American Bowling congress tournament Wednesday, grabbing fourth place in the singles with a 714 series.

The slender San Mateo, Calif., bowling supply salesman opened the first game with a spare, strung nine strikes and then converted a 6-pin spare for 276. He followed with 222 and 216.

Elkins and the members of his Bel Mateo masters team claimed second place in the tournament favorite here, the quintet piled up a 45-game aggregate of 9,093.

Reedsville High Blanks Hilbert '9

Reedsville — Don Maerz twirled a 3-hitter Thursday as Reedsville High school's baseball Panthers defeated Hilbert, 8-0, here. The game was halted after five innings.

Maerz, junior right-hander, walked three and struck out eight in posting his first shut out of the season. Reedsville is now 1-1 in the Eastern division while Hilbert is 0-2.

Reedsville went ahead to stay with a singleton in the first on a pair of errors. The Panthers added four in the second when Frank Foytk and Rollie Zipperer each whacked 1-run triples.

Clare Ott pitched the first 2 and 1-3 innings for Hilbert and Ron Harder, finished Ott taking the loss. Hilbert's hits, all singles, were scattered, with Krueger getting two of them.

Aberdeen Posts First Victory, Beats St. Cloud

St. Cloud posted its first Northern league victory in a doubleheader split with Aberdeen Thursday night on a 1-hit, 12-strikeout pitching performance by Basil Curry.

The Rox broke into the win column on Curry's 4-0 shutout after the Pheasants took the opener, 3-2, at St. Cloud. Curry, a rookie from Ellenburg Center, N.Y., gave up only a single to Aberdeen catcher Ellis Olson. Aberdeen's victory also broke them into the victory column.

Duluth-Superior won its first, 6-1, then collapsed before Winnipeg, 12-3, in another twin bill as the weather-beset loop tried to catch up from early rainouts.

Minot dumped Fargo-Moorhead, 12-9, while Eau Claire's home doubleheader with Grand Forks was postponed by rain. Grand Forks with a lone victory and no defeats took over sole possession of first place by staying idle. Winnipeg and Minot went 3-1 each.

Appleton Rotarians Leave for District Conference Today

Twenty Appleton residents will attend the 1960 district conference of Rotary International today and Saturday at Escanaba, Mich.

About 500 Rotarians from 36 clubs in northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan will attend.

Appleton delegates are Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Knoke, John Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Semmelhack, Walter Storch, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Gmeiner, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Engel, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Watson, Dr. John B. Lach-Laren, Harvey Blue, Norbert Loerke, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holtz, Mr. and Mrs. Al Johnson and Carl Schroeder.

Members of the Franklin school student council have prepared a bicycle safety skit with the assistance of James Murphy, Franklin principal and public school safety director. From left are Patrolman Vernal G. Remter; Thomas Lueck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lueck, talking to the bicycle; Nick Retson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Retson, who plays the part of a patrolman; Tom Sipple, son of Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Sipple, bike owner; Kirk Gloege, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gloege, who narrates the bike's part, and Mike Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nichols, announcer. The boys have presented the skit at Franklin and Huntley schools.

Judy Eller and Polly Riley Gain Semi-Final Round

Vivacious Jackie Higgings of New Orleans found herself in select company in the stepping stone round, joining such competitors as defending champion Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., 5-times titleholder Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas, and long-hitting Mary Mills of Gulfport, Miss.

Mrs. Higgings furnished the tournament's top upset Thursday when she trimmed Marge Burns of Greensboro, N. C. Miss Eller walloped Mrs. Shelby Lee, 5 and 4, and he-quarter-final triumph. Miss Riley edged Mary Crawford of Americus, Ga., 1 up, and Miss Mills overwhelmed Mrs. J. J. Miller of Hot Springs, Ark., 8 and 7.

Wiffi Smith's 69 Tops 'Peace' Field

Spartanburg, S.C. — The Peach Blossom Golf tournament, inaugurated seven years ago in honor of Spartanburg golfer Betsy Rawls, could be renamed for Wiffi Smith if the St. Clair, Mich., golfer keeps shooting the way she's become accustomed to here.

Wiffi, seeking her 11th straight victory here, 5-3, a three under par 69 Thursday for a 2-stroke first round lead.

Tied for second place at 71 were Beverly Hanson of Apple Valley, Calif.; Marilyn Smith, Tequesta, Fla., and Betty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

McHale Still Dickering For Left Field Help

Rush, Giggle
Could be Deal
To Phils or Cards

Los Angeles — Milwaukee Braves General Manager John McHale apparently still is dickering for a left fielder. McHale made a quick flying trip out of town Thursday, headed for a meeting in St. Louis with General Managers John Quinn of the Philadelphia Phillies and Bing Devine of the Cardinals.

The Braves reportedly were willing to give up three non-regulars for a man who can help. McHale is seeking a right-handed hitter but apparently would be willing to settle for a southpaw swinger if that was all he could find.

The Phillies seemed prepared to talk about trading either Wally Post or Harry Anderson and the Cards might be persuaded to part with Joe Cunningham or Curt Flood.

Rash or Giggle
If the Braves are forced to include a pitcher in the deal it appeared either Bob Rush or Bob Giggle, or both would be offered.

Also flying out ahead of the rest of the team Thursday were Warren Spahn and Joe Adcock. Spahn departed early to get a good night's sleep before his date with the Cubs in Chicago today. Adcock went along because he can't play while his back continues to act up.

Before the rest of the club left there was a word of salute for one of the veterans from Dodger Manager Walt Alston. Of "Red" Schoendienst, he said: "Red makes a whale of a difference in the Braves. He's the glue man in the infield, the spark, and he's doing everything like he never had a sick day. Red has great determination."

Earl Weaver in Familiar Territory

Manager Earl Weaver will be directing the Fox Cities Foxes in some familiar ballpark this season.

While playing second base for Omaha in the Class A Western league several years ago, he appeared at Des Moines, Sioux City, Topeka and Lincoln — all of which now are members of the Three-I league.

Couple Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nagan, 611 Quinney avenue, Kaukauna, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday with a high mass at St. Mary Catholic church, Kaukauna, with the Rev. Joseph Bauschka as celebrant.

Their son, Paul, sang during the mass, as his wife played an organ accompaniment. Serving the mass were four grandchildren of the couple, Michael Nagan, Richard and John Skibba, and Thomas Hanby.

The couple was married on May 2, 1910, at Holy Cross Catholic church, Kaukauna, with the Rev. P. J. Lochman officiating. Mrs. Nagan is the former Maude Rademacher

The original bridesmaid and best man attending Tuesday's celebration are Mr. Nagan's sister, Mrs. Olive Mill, and Ben Rademacher, brother of Mrs. Nagan.

Following the ceremony, a breakfast was held for the immediate family and friends at the Nagan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Nagan have seven children. Six of them living in Kaukauna are, two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Skibba and Mrs. Sylvester Hanby, sons, Mark, Paul, Eugene and David. Their son, Dr. Robert Nagan, lives in Indianapolis. They have 34 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Break Rules If Needed, Says Expert

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
General rules are very helpful when you are defending, but sometimes you must break the rules to get good results. For example, you may have to give special attention to the choice of card when you are returning your partner's suit.

West opens the five of hearts, and East wins with the ace. The rule says that East should return the deuce of hearts — his original fourth-highest card in his partner's suit.

Let's see where that gets East.

South plays the 10 of hearts, and West wins with the king. West returns a heart to the queen, and South gets to work on the diamonds. When East takes the king of diamonds, he can lead the eight of hearts, but this is the high heart. The suit is blocked, and South loses only three hearts and one diamond.

Should Suspect
East should suspect that this is going to happen when South drops the nine of hearts on the first trick. South is known to have three hearts, and if the lowest of these is the nine, East can work out the whole story for himself.

East should return the jack of hearts at the second trick, saving the deuce for an important job South covers within the queen, and West takes the king. West returns a heart, and East carefully gets rid of the eight, still saving the deuce.

South wins with the 10 of hearts and loses the diamond finesse to East. Now the deuce of hearts comes out of hiding, and West can take the rest of the suit to defeat the contract.

Kitchen for Two

Now that both heads of the household compete at cooking, it's inevitable that kitchens would be designed for two. Here's one kitchen-for-two prediction of what's to come — complete with many other ideas to inspire kitchen planning, whether or not the plan must be for two chefs holding forth at the same time.

The center divider that makes the kitchen tandem is a sound reclaimer of middle floor space that might go to waste. Even the overhead area is used with a see-through cabinet that has sliding glass doors on both sides. There's counter space and a sink below, as handy from one side as the other, along with back-to-back storage cabinets. And the wonderful large cabinet that finishes one end of the divider island is certainly a bonus of convenience that's a real storage luxury. It's an extra pantry in itself, with unique center trays for canned goods that can be set at any height on the supporting brackets and metal stripping.

The left half of the kitchen holds the counter to cut on with a bench that slides under it, a ceiling-to-floor cabinet and a surprise. Although there's no guessing that it's there most of the time, when one cabinet door opens, a typewriter lifts up by spring action, ready to make the area an office.

The right half includes a counter range, a wall oven and drawers, pull-out trays and compartments that are wonderfully spaced for everything that must be stored. One of the newest specially fitted sections pulls out a drawer at the top which can drop its sides and front, so a tray into which glasses are fitted can be pulled out. Below it is a smaller tray drawer and a deep compartment for tall bottles also pull out, all at once, on a deep slide and partitioned tray.

Smock for Cover-Up

If you have a little girl 4 or 5 years old I'll bet she has the face of a cherub and eyes that could melt an iceberg. She refuses to wear "pants like boys" and absolutely insists on a clean, pretty, angelic dress each day.

Every morning she looks like a mannequin from one of the Lilliputian shops and what's more, she knows it. But, if she's like most little girls of her age, she doesn't always act like an angel. She wants to look the part, but it's such a bore! It's much more fun to paint with water colors like her brothers in school, and wiping her grimy little hands on her dress saves so-o-much time in her busy day.

Chances are you stand in front of that mound of dresses every week and hysterically promise yourself never, but never to put a dress on that child again — except when absolutely necessary. She'll wear dungarees and like it! But you know she won't, and neither will you. All mothers of daughters are alike. They dream of having a little girl, and when their dream comes true they want her to look like a Shirley Temple doll. And why not?

Cover the little angel with a play smock and relax. The style is simple, and when made of drip-dry cotton it is easily laundered. It has all

Margaret Chose Chignon Hairdo

London. — Sleepy-eyed but triumphant, hairdresser Rene Moulard revealed the secret of Princess Margaret's hairdo at 6:30 a.m. today.

For the first time in her long career, Margaret chose a chignon, a mass of extra hair piled high on top of her head to give her added height.

Beneath the chignon Margaret's hair swept up from the brow. Curls covered her ears and swept forward on her cheeks.

The coiffure was completed by a sparkling diamond tiara, about five inches high at the center spray of large round diamonds. The wedding veil was pinned at each side.

or 5 years old I'll bet she has the face of a cherub and eyes that could melt an iceberg. She refuses to wear "pants like boys" and absolutely insists on a clean, pretty, angelic dress each day.

She wants to look the part, but it's such a bore! She'll wear dungarees and like it! But you know she won't, and neither will you. All mothers of daughters are alike. They dream of having a little girl, and when their dream comes true they want her to look like a Shirley Temple doll. And why not?

Cover the little angel with a play smock and relax. The style is simple, and when made of drip-dry cotton it is easily laundered. It has all the qualities you see advertised to help make household chores a joy — well, more bearable anyway.

The smock illustrated is a size 5 and easily fits a child on either side of it. You'll need three-fourths yard of drip-dry cotton 36 inches wide; six yards of bias tape double fold; five yards of baby ric rack.

First make a paper pattern as illustrated. The arm hole pattern is cut out separately so you can use it as a guide to cut the arm hole on the smock. After you have marked your paper pattern of the smock, as shown, place the cut out arm hole pattern on the smock pattern four inches from side edge and nine and one-half inches from top edge. Outline arm hole twice as illustrated and use as cutting line.

Bind armholes, sides and lower edge of smock and around complete pocket. Stitch a row of baby ric rack one-fourth inch from binding. Make a one and one-half inch finished hem at upper edge. Run a second row of stitching three-fourths inch from upper fold edge. Stitch ric rack across upper fold edge. Now, on tissue paper, write numbers for pocket design at least two inches high. Pin marked tissue on fabric pocket and stitch ric rack over markings. Tear away paper. Then, center the pocket on the smock and stitch in place four inches above lower edge. Now stitch three divisions in pocket. Make a drawstring 40 inches long by stitching folded edges of bias tape together. Insert in casing at neck and knot each end.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the 17-year-old boy who signed himself "Horrible Sight" could have been written by me several years ago. A person who has not suffered the hell in a nutshell of severe acne can't imagine the agony.

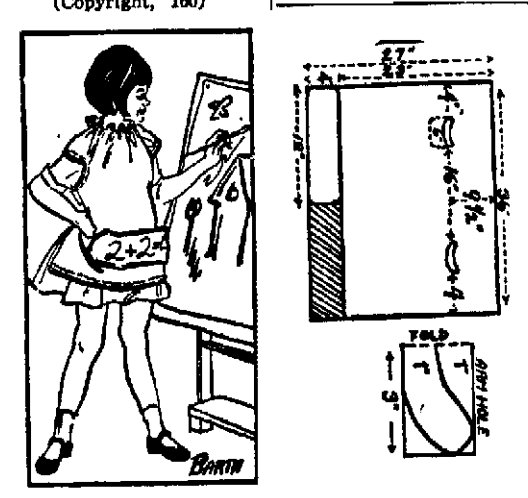

Your advice to see a skin specialist was excellent, but I'm sure you've never had acne. Ann Landers, or you would have carried it one step further. More important than anything else, is to develop the right attitude so that acne doesn't murder a teenager's confidence and make him a recluse.

To all teenagers with acne I would like to say this: Follow your doctor's orders but assume the acne is going to be with you for a long time. Then make up your mind to fight back.

Don't hide. Be a leader if it kills you. Work like a Trojan to get good grades, participate in sports, dramatics, debate and music. Be as fine a person as you know how. The old-fashioned virtues, loyalty, honesty, a no-gossip program and a lively sense of humor are still the best friend-getters known to man.

I'm certain now that my acne served a very useful purpose. I knew I couldn't depend on my looks to get me places, so I had to develop personality, build character and demonstrate leadership qualities if I wanted to amount to anything.

So, please, Ann, tell the teens who are suffering from this miserable skin curse to put it to work for them. When they stop thinking of themselves as "Horrible Sight"

Ex-Naval Officer Offers Words Of Wisdom for Acne Sufferers

so will everyone else. — Ex-Naval Officer

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the 17-year-old boy who signed himself "Horrible Sight" could have been written by me several years ago. A person who has not suffered the hell in a nutshell of severe acne can't imagine the agony.

Your advice to see a skin specialist was excellent, but I'm sure you've never had acne. Ann Landers, or you would have carried it one step further. More important than anything else, is to develop the right attitude so that acne doesn't murder a teenager's confidence and make him a recluse.

To all teenagers with acne I would like to say this: Follow your doctor's orders but assume the acne is going to be with you for a long time. Then make up your mind to fight back.

Don't hide. Be a leader if it kills you. Work like a Trojan to get good grades, participate in sports, dramatics, debate and music. Be as fine a person as you know how. The old-fashioned virtues, loyalty, honesty, a no-gossip program and a lively sense of humor are still the best friend-getters known to man.

I'm certain now that my acne served a very useful purpose. I knew I couldn't depend on my looks to get me places, so I had to develop personality, build character and demonstrate leadership qualities if I wanted to amount to anything.

So, please, Ann, tell the teens who are suffering from this miserable skin curse to put it to work for them. When they stop thinking of themselves as "Horrible Sight" all over my tulips and iris. What can I do about this beast? — S.S.S.

DEAR S.S.S.: In most cities it's against the law for dogs to be running loose. Call the police department and find out if the dog should be on a leash. If they are breaking the law, tell them and give them a chance to abide by the regulations. If they ignore the law after that, report them.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.) (Copyright, 1960)

Tongue Tied: What your husband is trying to say is that we must support the candidates who represent the party of our choice if we are to preserve the party. And this is fine — up to a point.

However, the voter who refuses to follow his party's candidate when that candidate does not come up to his standards is a healthy influence on both parties.

Such an independent spirit can effectively register disapproval of his own party's candidate without abandoning his — or his party's — principles.

DEAR ANN: Our neighbor has a German shepherd which is the meanest animal I've ever seen. He has bitten two children in the neighborhood and nipped my small son twice. The mailman is afraid to deliver the mail to the house. Whenever we complain to the owners they say "Prince is very gentle. The children must have teased him."

At night the dog howls and barks. During the day he runs

Books on Child Care Helpful to Mothers

BY ANGELO PATRI

Knowing what might be expected of a child at the various stages of his growth would be a tremendous help to mothers.

For example they would know to be watchful about letting the baby get hold of things he might swallow. By reading a book, they would learn that little ones feel things out with their mouths at an early stage and make an effort to keep the things he plays with as clean as possible. So much that they could learn just by reading a book that would save them hours of anxiety and many mistakes.

One young mother complained that her child a few months over a year old stood up in his crib and threw out everything he could manage. "I keep picking them up and putting them back and he just throws them right out again."

Way of Learning
Of course he did. He is learning how to use his hands and arms in throwing. He has so much to learn in so short a time.

When he was born he lay in his basket and slept and was fed, eliminated, slept again. But he had to work his way up little by little, one movement after another, all in good order until this time when he pulled himself up and stood holding on to his crib and threw things. Cheers for him, the hard-working young citizen.

When I suggested that this young mother get a book on child care she said, "Do you know how much a book like that costs?" I have no money to spend on a book. We're paying for a house, a car, and some other things."

Books Available
"Oh, yes, I know. You can buy a specialist's book, paper back, for 25 cents. I'm sure you have 25 cents you can spare for Dr. Spock's book. And you can go to the library and sit there for a quiet hour, or take the book home, and read Dr. Gesell's book 'Your Child from Five to Ten.' I imagine you have a cook-book."

I know that there are those who say there are so many books on child care as to be confusing. That need not be. If one good standard book on child care is bought, read, thought over with regard to the particular child in question, there need be no confusion. There might be more correct procedure.

The government supplies fine booklets on child care for very little. Surely any mother can get one and read it. Isn't that what books are for? Try one.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet "Infant's Play," send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Annual Conference

Methodists Fight Use Of Taxes for Church

Denver — America's largest protestant denomination has thrown its weight into a fight to prevent use of tax funds in connection with religious facilities.

The Methodist church, at its policy-making general conference, Wednesday, endorsed the work of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State as of "crucial importance" to the country's free churches.

The agency, formed in 1957 and known as POAU, has carried on numerous court cases against use of public funds in relation to parochial schools and other church institutions, many of them Roman Catholic.

"Vigorous Opposition" Methodist representatives commended the agency's reports, and urged regional church units to encourage "moral and financial support" for it.

They approved a report saying "vigorous opposition" must be carried on against the "diversion of government funds" to sectarian purposes, but that "fanaticism and appeals to bigotry must be avoided."

"Free churches will be increasingly hampered if tax money is devoted to the support of any church," the report said, and added that POAU has demonstrated its effectiveness in opposing such steps.

Limit Power The agency now is carrying on 18 lawsuits in 14 states. The Rev. Dow Kipatrick, Atlanta, objected to recommending any financial contributions to the organization, saying this seemed to give it a "quasi-official status" in the Methodist church. His amendment was voted down.

The conference also voted to restrict the tenure of Methodist bishops in any one area to 12 years, a move described as intended to prevent them from accumulating too much power.

Since it goes into effect only this year, however, with previous tenure served in an area not counted, the plan could not require any transfers until 1972.

League to Hear Hawaii Story

Members of the Pan American league will see colored slides of the Hawaiian Islands when they hold this season's final meeting at 1:30 p.m. Monday. The group will meet at the home of Mrs. R. A. Also on the agenda is the election of officers. The nominating committee consists of Mmes. Eugene Doven, chairman, M. S. Clough and Herbert Harwood.

These Days

Hard Work, Not Public Undress, Way to Fame, Sokolsky Tells Coeds

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York—Barnard college is the female part of Columbia university, a distinguished institution of learning.

When I went to this university, the boys wore collars, neckties and jackets which, on the whole, gave the appearance of tidiness and even cultural gentility. The girls, of course, wore skirts which were then regarded as essential to a ladylike appearance. If a girl appeared on the campus in those abbreviated under-garments which now seem so stylish, she would have been arrested by the municipal police.

Well, times have changed and as girl seeks boy, she dresses sexily. It could be said that a clean mind could gaze upon the nude without an ignoble thought. Perhaps that is possible if the body is of amazing beauty. Unfortunately few women, no matter at what age, can be uncovered without losing in aesthetic value. The good Lord has not been so kind in his depository of curves, clumps of fat and similar ineptitudes, to make beauty available altogether unassisted by the artifices that women have learned to use from time immemorial.

"Legs Are Too Fat" A mass of half-nude teenagers is a sight to behold. Their legs are too fat, too unformed. Too many young girls, in these days of sweetened beverages and high-caloric foods, too early resemble Ruben's models. When President Millcent McIntosh of Barnard, at the suggestion of President Grayson Kirk of Columbia university, told the girls to put on more clothes, she did it for the wrong reasons. She should have said to the girls who wear pants and Bermuda and other kinds of shorts: "You look terrible. Go and dress up!"

It appears that some of the girls protested. They said that they could wear what they pleased and that it was none of the business of the university. I went through all that 40-odd years ago and have long since discovered that it is ordinary good manners, if you enter a person's house, to be dressed as your hostess desires. Otherwise, stay home.

Lippmann's Comment Kids who believe that they gain something of independence by such externals are at best ill-mannered. About 44 years ago, some of us, in this same university, published a magazine called "Challenge" with which we were going to remake the world.

Edward Galligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Galligan, 921 E. College avenue, went with 33 other geology students at Wentworth Military academy, Lexington, Mo., on a field trip to the Lake of the Ozarks.

We went down to the "New Republic" to see Walter Lippmann who was already a great man. He looked at our paper and talked about its make-up. What he said left a permanent impression on me. And I should like to paraphrase that impression: "Great and new ideas need to be clothed in a trashy, cheap dress. You kids have something to say but you have not put your thoughts into a dress that others will look at."

We went away very disappointed. I am sure that most of us thought that Lippmann would put us on our already enlarged heads. It came to me that the way to attract attention in public or standing on one's head, it could be done by hard and earnest work. There is an old Yiddish story which these Barnard girls might learn. There was once a young man who ate a cake of yellow soap on the steps of the synagogue on the day of atonement when everybody else fasted. His face was covered with soap-suds. The yellow soap was bitter and it stank.

He was asked why he did such a stupid thing, on the steps of the synagogue, on the day of atonement, when everybody else fasted. His reply was simple and to the point: "How else would anyone know that I'm a revolutionist?"

KHS Vocalists Preparing for Spring Concert

'South Pacific'
To Highlight
May 18 Program

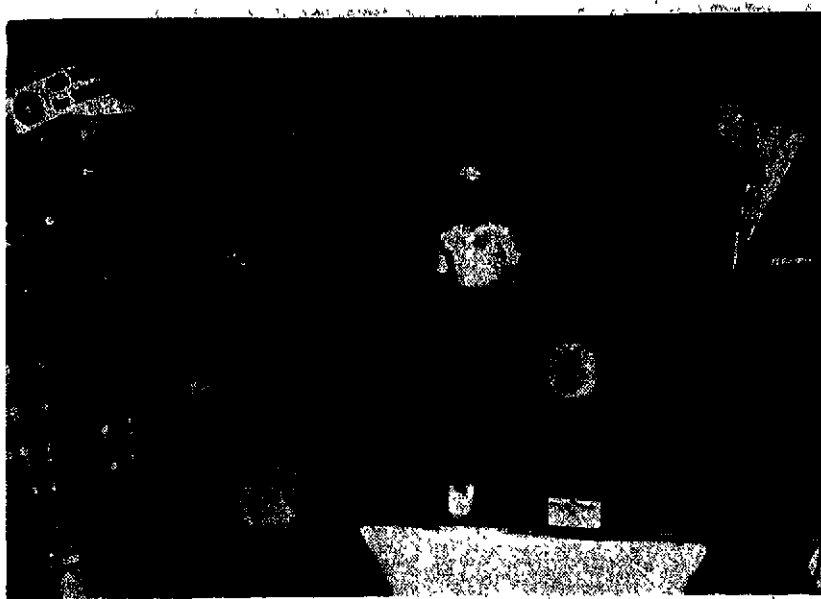

Kaukauna—Highlighting the annual spring vocal concert to be presented May 18 in the high school auditorium by Kaukauna High school vocalists will be selections from "South Pacific." An innovation this year, according to Adrian McGrath, director, will be the acting out of songs. Assisting McGrath with this portion of the program will be Mrs. Howard Springer and Miss Barbara Little, dramatics coaches. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Program Planned
Group, solo and duet numbers are scheduled for the program. Naomi Tyson is scheduled to sing, "A Cockeyed Optimist," while David Foxgrover will sing "Some Enchanted Evening" and "This Really Was Mine." Daniel Derke and Barbara

Building Permit for Remodeling Issued

Kaukauna—A building permit to make alterations to a home at an estimated cost of $1,800 was issued to John Cleland, 229 John street, by Lothar Kemp, building inspired by John voices to offer "My Girl Back Home," while "Dixie-Mel" and "Two Soliloquies" will be sung by David Foxgrover and Sherrill Kimpel. The Boys' Glee Club is scheduled to sing "There Is Nothing Like A Dame," incidental solo by Foxgrover. Singing "Carefully Taught" will be Patrick Coleman, Norman Micke, Thomas Reinke, Thomas Johnson and Dwight Bastian. Tenor voices of the chorus will sing, "Younger Than Springtime," with Dale Van Dyke soloist. Second sopranos will sing "Honey Bun," while the Girls' Glee club will offer, "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa' My Hair." Incidental solo parts will be handled by Barbara Boyd and Sherrill Kimpel. Elynn Verbeeten will sing, "A Wonderful Guy." The mixed chorus will offer "Hallelujah Chorus," "One World" and "Let There Be Music," all numbers presented the spring vocal tournament.

Stroke or Apoplexy Centered In Brain, Explains Dr. Molner

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss 'strokes.' What causes them? Do they all come from high blood pressure? — Mrs. R. G."

Dr. Molner

A stroke (or a plexy, which is the same thing) is a shutting down of the fresh blood supply to some portion of the brain.

While the results may be at some remote part of the body—anything from paralysis of a limb to slurred or lost speech—a stroke is centered in the brain. The paralysis elsewhere is merely a sign that the brain no longer can send the "signals" which tell the muscles how to act.

There are three main types of strokes:
1. A sudden hemorrhage in the brain. That is, a blood vessel breaks. Of the three types, this is the one in which high blood pressure is usually the cause. (There are exceptions; there may be a weak point somewhere which breaks down even though pressure is normal. I have in mind the case of a little girl of about 8 who suffered such a stroke. She since has recovered nicely.)

Anyway, this type of stroke comes on with dramatic symptoms—convulsions, rigidity of the body, head pain, loud, deep breathing. Later the patient quiets down. In severe cases, such attacks may be immediately fatal. In other cases, not.

A second type results from a thrombosis, or plugging of an artery, but without hemorrhage. The artery itself does not rupture. This is more likely to come on slowly, with a gradual loss of function of whatever part of the body is controlled by that particular portion of the brain.

Or, finally, the third type, rather closely related to the second, comes about because an artery is narrowed so that it restricts the flow of blood, but the artery is not completely plugged.

Hardening of the arteries (rather than high blood pressure) is the main cause of this, although obviously some abnormal condition which results in squeezing an artery at some point can do the same thing. In either event, this may be in the brain, or may be in the arteries of the neck (carotid arteries) since they furnish circulation to the brain.

Such cases more generally bring transient dizziness or faintness, or passing disorders in speech, vision, hearing.

As you can readily see, the second and third types may come about even though the blood pressure is essentially normal.

There can be little strokes, involving some relatively unimportant part of the brain, usually leaving no aftermath. Or there can be massive strokes snuffing out life at once.

But in between are all degrees of severity. These are the ones we must learn to understand and care for.

I do not mean, of course, that we should not seek to avoid or prevent strokes; but for practical purposes today, we should all be familiar with what can be done after a serious stroke has occurred.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any way to remove dark freckles from the face? They are more like moles but do not stand up from the skin.—N.C."

First find out whether they are freckles or moles. If freckles, there's no way to remove them, although cosmetics can do a pretty good job of concealing them. (Many very attractive women have freckles and don't mind 'em.) If they are moles, and are seriously objectionable, consult a skin specialist or plastic surgeon as to the advisability of removal.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Lost Secret Of Reducing." For a copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Dog Owners Reminded To Pick Up Licenses

Kaukauna — Police issued a reminder to dog owners in the city the dog tax is due and can be paid at the police station.

Dog owners pick up licenses when paying. Owners must furnish police with a description and name of the animal.

Registration Set For Kindergartners

Brillion—Registration of all children from the Brillion school district who will enter kindergarten next fall will be in the kindergarten room May 18 between 8 and 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m.

To be eligible a child must be 5 years old by Oct. 1.

Kaukauna Klubbers to Face 20-Game League Schedule

Kaukauna — A 20-game Fox River Valley league baseball schedule has been announced for the Kaukauna Klubbers, according to Jerry Klarer, manager.

The squad will get in a practice game Sunday when an exhibition tilt will be played against Poygan here.

Due to some necessary schedule changes the Klubbers will have four straight home games and then face seven consecutive foes on the road.

Since there are only six teams in the league this season, each club will play the other four times. Kaukauna's opener will be May 15 when Harrison invades the Klubber diamond.

Following games include Appleton, here, May 22; Menasha, here, May 29; Freedom, here, May 30; Little Chute - Kimberly, here, June 5; Menasha, there, June 12;

Elks Complete Plans for Annual Post-Prom Party

Kaukauna — Plans have been completed for the post-prom party to be sponsored by the Elks from midnight to 4 a. m. Saturday.

Highlighting the affair will be a turkey dinner from midnight to 1 a. m. after which a dance will be held with music by a local orchestra. The entire prom court will be represented at the Elks party, according to David Foxgrover, junior class president.

Married Students Number 1,922, Regents Say

Madison — A board of state college regents report today showed 1,922 married students are attending Wisconsin's nine state colleges.

About 335 of the married students among 13,453 persons taking full-time work are, however, the report said, women. In most instances, wives work to help support their husbands.

"That the married student will be a persistent campus phenomenon," the report said, "is evidenced by the fact that at least a third of those present today are freshmen or sophomores."

The regents have studied married student housing problems several times since World War II, but limited expenditures to establishment of about 200 barracks—like units about 15 years ago. These were located at all schools except Platteville.

The report indicated the regents are reluctant to build new married student units because high unit cost would require rent payments beyond what most student families could afford.

A good-sized number of veterans are enrolled at the colleges, the report indicated. It said the 1,366 enrolled include 1,349 Korean veterans and 20 who served during World War I.

All children who will enter kindergarten next fall are invited to attend visiting day May 24. Mrs. Merrill Vanderhoof is the kindergarten teacher.

Police Justice Fines Five Men

All Admit Speeding When Arraigned in Kimberly Wednesday

Kimberly — Five drivers pleaded guilty of speeding when arraigned before Albert J. Van Alphen, police justice, Wednesday night.

David William Brown, 21, route 2, Kaukauna, admitted speeding in a school zone and was fined $25. A fine of $10 for one armed driving was remitted but Brown was informed he would have nine points charged against his driving record.

John Kalderman, 31, 1531 S. Madison street, Appleton, was fined $40. Police Justice Van Alphen remitted $30 of the fine and ordered the man to attend safety school. He will have six points charged against his record.

Fined $40 and charged six points for driving 75 miles per hour was Victor H. Langolf, 21, 301 Stow street, Fond du Lac. Fined $10 and three points were Merlin J. Janssen, 32, route 4, Appleton, and Robert R. Beauville, 27, 714 N. Durkee street, Appleton.

Mothers' Day Program Set by Eagle Lodge

Kaukauna—A special Mothers' day program will be held by the Eagle Aerie beginning with a social hour from 6 to 7 p. m. Saturday at the island street clubrooms.

A country style chicken dinner will be served at 7 followed by an address by Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon. Lodge officers have charge of the ticket sale. This special program was set up as it was an Eagle member who first suggested a special day be set aside to honor mothers.

Brillion Speakers Win Honors in Area Contests

Brillion — Brillion High school students have participated in speech contests recently.

Kenneth Belanger placed second in the Optimist club oratorical contest at the American Legion clubhouse, Appleton. The 5-minute oration was on "The Voice of Optimism."

Kenneth will be the alternate to the district contest at LaCrosse in May. He received a travel alarm clock and his coach, Mrs. Violet Laack, received a plaque of the Optimist Creed.

Six Brillion students took part in the 4-H speaking contest at Chilton. Eric Fischer was awarded an A rating and B ratings were earned by Wayne Piepenburg, Dick Fischer, Bonnie Wink, Carol Stebane and Judy Stanelle.

Mrs. Violet Laack, Brillion, served as one of the seven judges.

225-661 Pace Freedom Summer Kegling Loop

Freedom — Carl Fischer rapped a 225 singleton and Jerry Gerrits posted a 618 series to pace the Tuesday Summer league at Ludwig lanes. The only other honor count was a 598 trio by Carl Fischer.

Two Men Post $15.50 Bonds at Police Station

Kimberly — Two men signed stipulations of guilt and posted bond after being arrested by village police for traffic violations.

Robert H. Erickson, 23, 717 Keyes street, Menasha, posted bond of $15.50 for passing at an intersection and was told he would have four points charged against his driving record.

Jerome J. Van Asten, 27, 329 S. John street, Kimberly, posted bond for failing to stop on an arterial and posted bond of $15.50. He was told he would have three points charge against his driving record.

Bowling League Elects Officers

Chilton — League officers were elected for the Commercial bowling loop at its annual dinner meeting at Sep's hall, Jericho.

Gilbert Viet was named president; Andrew Pendi, vice president; Gilbert Schneider, secretary, and William Larson, treasurer.

The championship trophy was presented to Heinie's Bar, Chilton, and individual trophies went to team members Dale Flemming, Harvey Dietz, Donald Viet, Gilbert Schneider and Claude Berrens.

Based on handicap scoring, Claude Weber rolled the season's high series, 712, and for an arterial and posted bond of $15.50. He was told he would have three points charge against his driving record.

Team highs were set by Pudlo Filters, 1,063, and Carnation milk, 3,030.

WESTERN ELEVATOR COMPANY

Appleton, Wisconsin

$1 Million Bond Issue Approved by City Council

The $1 million 1960 corporate bond issue approved by Appleton council Wednesday will provide $350,000 for the new southside swimming pool, $100,000 to finish the Oneida street bascule bridge and $549,000 for storm sewers.

Construction of the pool will cost $308,567. To be added are architect and engineering fees, inspection fees, furnishings for the pool area and bathhouse, cost of moving a ball diamond eliminated by the new pool and a contingency fund.

The bridge was under bonded, at $600,000, last year because not all contingencies were known then.

Money for sewers is not designated for specific areas, but is figured on the amount of work estimated to be done this year.

Pool Managers

Lewis Precourt and Keith Kohlman will be hired as manager and assistant manager respectively for Erb Park swimming pool from June 1 to Sept. 10.

Ald. Schneider proposed the termination date of their employment be left to the welfare and ordinance committee, but it lost. The finance committee recommended the men be kept to Sept. 10 so the men would earn about the same amount as last summer. Ald. Groh and Radder objected to the Sept. 10 date.

Ald. Hannemann noted Precourt and Kohlman usually work weekends before June 1 interviewing life guards, and do clean up work for several weeks after the pool is closed. Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings told the council the city has spent a lot of money to develop an arterial street pattern and it should be followed more closely.

Stop Signs

The statement came after she objected to putting 4-way stop signs at Spring and State streets and 2-way stops on Summer and Commercial at State. The stop signs were approved as the public safety committee had recommended.

"I'm against making State an arterial street," she said, then proposed 4-way stops at all three intersections. Her motion lost.

Ald. Loos had requested 2-way stops at all three in January because residents of his ward complain about fast-moving cross traffic. "Cars are always going up on the laws trying to avoid crashes," he told the committee.

Ald. Stoenbauer said he was against any stop signs on State because it was a good traffic carrier.

Public Improvements

A preliminary resolution for sanitary sewers, water mains, grading and graveling and asphalt surfacing on portions of 12 streets was approved.

Streets to get sanitary sewers, water mains and grading and graveling are Newberry and Farrell courts, Farrell street from Newberry court to the west end of the street, Lynn drive from County Trunk Z to Crestview drive, Julie street from Lynn drive to Crestview drive, and Crestview drive from Lynn drive to end of Hanson-Bassett plat.

Grading and graveling only will go on Summit from Taylor to where gravel is already in place, and on Lee court from where gravel now ends west for 800 feet. A water main will be put on Newberry from Schaefer to Lynn. Scheduled for asphalt surfacing are Ravinia place from Memorial drive to River drive, Locust from Front street to Prospect avenue, and Harris street from Mason to Douglas streets.

Board of Health

Only one of three items recommended by the board of health approved was purchase of a typewriter for the office.

Sent back to committee were requests to buy a portable dictating machine for the city nurse and to increase the car allowance of the city nurse from $35 to $55 a month.

Ald. Tucker questioned the necessity of the dictating machine, and was told by Ald. Stillings the nurse could spend more time on field work.

Ald. Bogan asked that the car allowance request be sent back and held until he could check expense items from previous years to see if an increase was necessary.

Zoo Trades Lion

For Bird's Appetite

San Francisco — Fed up with its hungry lions, San Francisco's zoo has traded one of them away — for a pair of blue macaws guaranteed to eat like a bird.

"If there's anyone else who wants a lion, we'll be glad to trade. We have a surplus and they're eating up our budget," said Raymond Kimball, recreation and parks superintendent.

The macaws were offered by Arthur Flanders of San Jose who said he'll give his lion to the San Jose park. The birds are worth $100 a pair, about the price of a lion.

6th Armored Cavalry

Begins 100th Year

Fort Knox, Ky. — The sixth armored cavalry's agenda called for a light machine gun drill and tent pitching competition.

Old fashioned? Certainly. The Fighting Sixth, first called to arms by President Lincoln, began its 100th year today. The color guard set the tempo by donning Civil war style uniforms for the anniversary ceremonies.

State Toll Heavy in Theory In 3-Day Civil Defense Drill

Stevens Point — An awed list of imaginary dead was ready for tabulation at the end of a 3-day civil defense exercise on nuclear war problems—and horrors.

Also confronting defense workers at the emergency state capital here were the hypothetical problems of fallout, evacuation and vital community services in a state nearly devastated Monday and Tuesday by simulated nuclear missile attacks on such key centers as Milwaukee, Madison and Superior.

Evaluation of the various phases of the operation follows conclusion of the statewide drill.

Lawyers Seek Amendment to Constitution

Outagamie, Grant Counties Want Court Act Change

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Lawyers in Outagamie and Grant counties are asking for amendments to the county court reorganization act, which will take effect in 1962, to provide an additional county judge in each jurisdiction.

The requests are now before the Wisconsin judicial council, which advises the legislature on the organization and administration of the Wisconsin judiciary.

The council's court redistricting committee headed by John Kluwin, Milwaukee, will make a report to the 1961 legislature if the proposals are approved.

Two Branches Grant county now has one county court, under County Judge George Franz.

Outagamie county, with a municipal and county court even to the top level national strategy planners themselves.

The move was part of the operation alert practice exercise for any future emergency.

The security council, headed by the president, includes Vice President Nixon, Sec. of State Herter, Sec. of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., and Leo A. Hoegh, director of the office of civil and defense mobilization.

will have two branches of the under present arrangements, county court under the reorganization act. Present judges are County Judge Stanley Staidl and Municipal Judge Oscar Schmlege.

Formal Hearings

The council has received a communication from the Outagamie County Bar association, and another from Harry Carthew, leading Grant county lawyer, on behalf of the bar of that county.

Formal hearings on the proposals will probably be later.

Under the reorganization act the county judges will be on the state payroll, but counties will be permitted to offer auxiliary compensation if they desire. The council at its last session failed to approve a proposal to ask the legislature to permit supplementary pay from municipalities also.

Lawrence Professor's Book to Be Published

Dr. Carl P. Wellman, assistant professor of philosophy at Lawrence college, has been notified that his book "An Analysis of Ethical Language" has been accepted for publication by the Harvard University press. The book grew out of his Ph.D. thesis which was completed at Harvard in 1954.

No publication date has been announced. Revisions in the manuscript are planned for this summer.

Next year, Dr. Wellman will be on leave of absence from Lawrence, doing research on ethical reasoning, which he also hopes to expand into a major piece of writing. He will hold an American Council of Learned Societies grant and plans to work at Oxford university in England.

John Reeve Again Valley Scout Head

New Vice Presidents Elected, Forest Management Plan Okayed

James P. Buchanan, Neenah, and Dr. Edward Zeiss, Appleton, are new vice presidents.

John P. Reeve

and Lloyd R. Watson, who served five years. The two retiring officers were presented with awards by past President Oliver C. Wordell. Wordell cited them for their long careers of service and for enthusiasm, judgment, and determination in council work.

New Board Members
Dexter Wolfe, Appleton, was reelected scout commissioner and F. A. Meythaler, Appleton, was reelected treasurer. Reelected vice-presidents were Robert A. Olsen, Clintonville; Paul West, Kaukauna, and John Whitney, Neenah. Three new members named to the executive board are William Urban, Neenah; Neil J. McCarty, Kaukauna; and Glen Vande Hey, Kimberly.

A wood badge award was presented to James Schroeder, Combined Locks postmaster, by Ralph T. Sues, Sr. The wood badge requires an 8-day field exercise, passing a written examination and demonstration of leadership in training.

Five Appleton men added to the roll of council members at large are Robert W. Duthie, Stuart H. Koch, V. I. Minahan, John M. Rosebush and Robert H. Swaby.

The council has approved a plan for giving the forest management of the Gardner Dam camp over to Trees for Tomorrow, Inc.

Trees for Tomorrow, a conservation group sponsored by 13 paper mills and five power companies, has been providing professional help in managing the forest for the last six years.

Back UCS Program
Robert F. Rogers, chairman of the conservation committee, said the new plan will permit the corporation to select trees for harvest and provide for cutting, but all decisions are subject to council approval.

Trees for Tomorrow will receive 10 per cent of stumpage sale. An estimated $35,000 will be received from the harvest in the next 10 years, Rogers said. The corporation will also assist in reforestation projects.

The council unanimously backed the United Community Service "30 minutes - a month" plan for donating to Red Feather agencies.

New Building
The Valley council is a Red Feather agency and about 68 per cent of its finances come from the UCS, according to council officers Reeve and Meythaler.

Completion of the $21,000 ranger's home, workshop and garage at Gardner Dam camp was announced at the meeting by Paul West. The building was financed by a capital funds campaign.

Family Facilities
George Banta, Jr., Menasha, announced that facilities for scouters' families visiting the camp will be improved. A modern lavatory and building costing an estimated $2,500 will be donated by the George Banta company foundation.

A family area near the parking lot will probably be developed to include a nature study area and picnic grounds, Banta said.

Chilton Woman Disappears; State Police Alerted

Chilton — Police throughout the state are looking for Mrs. Roland Jensen, 46, who disappeared from her home Wednesday evening. A statewide alert on her disappearance was filed on police teletype and radio networks Thursday night.

Her husband told police his wife mentioned going to their lakeside cottage to do some gardening while he was bowling Wednesday.

Thursday morning he investigated and found there was no trace of her being at the cottage.

Thursday night Jensen reported the disappearance to Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky and the alert was forwarded to Appleton by teletype.

Four Cars Damaged in Line Crash

Four cars were damaged, none of them badly, in a bumper-to-bumper accident in the 100 block of W. Wisconsin avenue about 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

According to police, the first car, driven by William E. Palda, 21, of 1408 N. Rankin street, stopped in the middle of the block to pick up a passenger. A second car, driven by Helen J. Gottschalk, 24, of 408 N. Morrison street, was unable to stop and ran into the rear of the Palda vehicle.

The third car, driven by Edward C. Ginnow, 59, of 1400 W. Kenilworth street, slid into the rear of the Gottschalk vehicle, and a fourth car, driven by Thomas D. Forrest, 19, of 724 Main street, Neenah, struck the back of the Ginnow car.

No Injuries

There were no injuries. Cars driven by Herbert C. Steidl, 68, of 108 Green Bay street, Menasha, and James E. Weber, 30, of 915 N. Drew street, collided Thursday at Superior and Summer streets.

The right front side of a car driven by Bette Lou Peterson, 32, of 819 N. Gillett street, was damaged when she hit a car parked in the 200 block of E. Wisconsin avenue Thursday. Police say she apparently turned away to avoid hitting a car in front of her and hit the parked vehicle.

Teenagers Hurt In Near-Head-on Collision on 45

Two Appleton teenagers were injured in a crash which demolished two cars late Thursday afternoon.

Beverly Jean Gossen, 17, of 2806 Heath avenue, the driver of one car, and Janice J. Buss, 16, route 1, Appleton, her passenger, received cuts and bruises in a near head-on crash about a mile west of Greenville on Highway 45.

The Gossen car, was westbound on 45 when it was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Dorothy Warning, route 1, Hortonville.

Rolled in Ditch
The Warning car had just rounded a curve and apparently skidded into the path of the oncoming Gossen vehicle, county police said. The Gossen vehicle rolled over once and landed on its wheels.

A third car, driven by James J. Buss, route 1, Eland, took to the ditch to avoid the accident.

The two young women were taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by Larry's ambulance and were released today.

Teamster-City Agreement Bogs Down in Committee

Request Jury to Decide if He Thinks Special Counsel Needed

Negotiations on a proposed Teamster-city agreement for Appleton's street and sanitation department workers is bogged down in committee, possibly for another six weeks.

The council's street and sanitation committee met for more than 2 1/2 hours Thursday night to discuss the agreement, but never got to it.

Instead, representatives of Appleton Taxpayers and Appleton Personnel associations were allowed to explain why their groups are urging that the city hire special legal counsel to advise on the final wording of the agreement.

After listening to several members of both associations each speak at length more than a half dozen times, the committee passed—by a 4 to 1 vote—a motion to refer the matter to City Atty. Don Jury. The motion read, that "This matter be referred to the city attorney to ascertain whether in his opinion the mechanics of the agreement require outside legal counsel."

The department's present working rules were adopted in 1957 following negotiations between city officials and representatives of two unions, including the teamsters. No outside legal counsel was employed.

'Lack of Decision'
Robert Schlieve, Teamster business agent, who had come to the committee meeting to discuss the agreement, "not to refute" the taxpayers and personnel groups, said the committee's action "shows a definite lack of decision on the part of elected city officials."

Schlieve protested that the Thursday committee meeting had been called to discuss the union agreement, not to debate the merits of the two taxpayer group letters and one from the personnel association. He said he was definitely against hiring outside counsel.

The chairman of the committee differed — saying in a "These letters were referred to this committee for consideration and we have to decide what to do with their proposals. The committee has decided to ask the advice of the city attorney."

According to one committee actual negotiating," he argued.

The taxpayer group persisted in its view that special counsel is necessary because the wording of the proposed agreement is ambiguous and open to misinterpretation.

Its representatives stated again the organization is not against better conditions and wages for city workers, but the final pact must be so clearly worded that both parties can understand it without continual need for interpretation.

They also asked again for an estimate of what the pact would cost the city, and were told the council has referred this to the city clerk-controller.

However, Schlieve said if the city would provide him with the necessary data he would be happy to have a local union accountant determine the cost, or the union would pay an accountant of the city's choosing to do the job.

Recordings Help Break Barriers of Language

Newcomer in Field Attempts To Better System Long in Use

BY HUGH MULLIGAN
AP News Features Writer

As man speeds faster and faster into the jet age, and the world grows smaller and smaller, the language barriers that divide nations come every day under heavier assault.

For a long time, almost from the start of the industry, records have played a large part in bulldozing down the language barrier. Even in the heyday of the old 78-speed record, language discs enjoyed a wide popularity, although the amount of material that could be contained on a set of records was necessarily limited.

Companies like Berlitz, Living Languages, Dover and Cortina have taught thousands of tourists, businessmen, diplomats and housewives to converse in a variety of foreign languages without venturing out of their living rooms.

Language records have an immense advantage over college courses for the simple reason that the student can go back to the original material as often as he desires or requires.

Big Disadvantage
The main disadvantage of any language record, of course, is that material is necessarily limited to what is contained on the record and in the accompanying manual. In addition, language records concentrate heavily on conversational words and phrases and seldom go very deeply into grammar, the real foundation of any language.

But a newcomer in the field called "Instant Languages" makes a brave attempt at changing the whole system.

The "Instant Language" series, put out under the Pickwick label, is the brainchild of 27-year-old Lewis Robbins of New York City, a former Navy enlisted man who taught the Navy new ways of teaching Morse code and typing and now has applied the same system to foreign languages.

Not a Linguist
Robbins is not a linguist or, for that matter, even a teacher. He is, for want of a better title, a deep thinker about learning processes.

His system, called reinforced learning, is based on psychological principles laid down by Professors Fred Keller of Columbia university and B. F. Skinner of Harvard. In brief, the system employs the principle that responses to stimuli which are strengthened; those that don't are weakened and eventually extinguished.

Robbins gives the example of a man confronted with two vending machines, one red, the other green. When a coin is inserted in the red machine, nothing happens (absence of reinforcement). The next time the man sees the same two machines he will automatically choose the green one because his response (putting in the coin) to the stimulus (presence of the machine) has been strengthened (by the candy bar).

Carrying this principle into his language records, Robbins minimizes memory work in favor of a happy psychological reaction. The instructor's voice (stimulus) calls out a foreign word or phrase. There is a pause while the student tries to guess at the meaning and joins his answer down on a piece of paper (response). Then the instructor gives the answer.

If the student is correct in his guess, his response is reinforced immediately by hearing the answer and he remembers it. If not, he goes on to the next word or phrase.

Tries Again
In a list of 10 words or phrases, he may get only one or two correct — perhaps none — but when he tries a second time, he finds himself getting six or seven, and, on the third try, probably all correct.

Robbins' reinforced learning system taught Navy yeomen to type after only 10 hours of instruction, compared with 30 hours under the standard system, and cut the Morse code course from several weeks to five hours.

Empire State Building Beacon Turned Off So Birds May Pass Safely

At one minute past midnight April 16 an event took place in New York that proves the big city has a heart. And that wildlife conservation can be practiced even amid the steel and concrete masses of Manhattan Island.

At that moment an engineer pulled a switch, turning but the all-night beacon atop the Empire State building. The beacon will remain dark until June 1.

The purpose is to keep thousands of migrating birds from dashing out their lives against the steel sides of the skyscrapers. At the request of the National Audubon society, the management of the world's tallest building has extinguished the stationary beacon during bird migration seasons since 1958.

Every year about this time the mysterious magnets of migration draw millions of birds northward from wintering areas. In the east many of the migration routes funnel across Manhattan Island in what ornithologists know as the Atlantic flyway.

Ralph Bellamy, Portraying Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and Greer Garson as Eleanor Roosevelt play a scene in the film version of the Broadway stage hit, "Sunrise at Campobello." The story concerns the Roosevelt family life at Campobello Island, summer home in New Brunswick, before Roosevelt became president.

Outdated Medicines Constant Source of Danger to Children

Collecting may be a family hobby but your collectors' items should not include old and outdated medicines. Some medicines become ineffective with age, and thus unsafe to use.

In addition, advises the Institute for Safer Living, poisonous medicines offer a constant source of danger to children—even to grownups if stored without care. Keep no more poisons in the house than are necessary, and keep them stored out of reach of little fingers. Clean out and tidy up the medicine cabinet at frequent intervals. Dispose of unwanted medicines by pouring down the sink, including pills which may be first dissolved in water.

Twin Bill Offers Real Double Appeal

'Daisies' Best for Women, Men Will Enjoy Fine Sea Story

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Couples with enough stamina to sit through a double feature will find that the current Appleton theater program provides something for the gals, and the guys.

"Please Don't Eat the Daisies" has a couple of expensive stars and the title of a best-selling book. "The Last Voyage" could be called a "sleepy" except that it's getting top billing elsewhere.

"Daisies" is for the ladies. It's chock full of production values. There's wide screen, technicolor, a brood of cute movie kids and Doris Day, the box office queen.

Doris is in and out of chic outfits at the drop of a hat box (just as she was in "Pillow Talks").

Niven Is Husband
David Niven plays the part of her husband, drama critic of a New York newspaper. Like most movie newspaper people, his schedule consists of something like this: luncheon at Sardi's, a fashionable cocktail party and then dinner at the Waldorf.

Since Niven won an Oscar for playing a lecherous, aging bachelor in "Separate Tables," casting people can't find enough loving-husband parts for him.

At times, "Daisies" seems like a sequel to Niven's "Happy Anniversary" of a few months back. But, thanks to Jean Kerr's uproarious book, there are a few more yuks. In fairness, it should be reported that no film adaptation could bear much resemblance to her work—a group of unconnected sketches.

For The Men
"Last Voyage" will entertain the fellows, who may prefer sea action to the less overt perils of suburban living.

It's a well-done suspense job about the last few hours of a U.S. - to-Japan luxury liner which sinks in the Pacific.

George Sanders plays a Queeg-like captain without changing expression. Dorothy Malone is trapped in her cabin while the ship is sinking. Hubby Robert Stack has the seemingly hopeless job of trying to rescue her, and their daughter.

Almost everyone is too concerned with saving the ship, or themselves, to pay much attention.
Edmond O'Brien, chief engineer, finally lands a hand—but it's too late!
The ending is typically Hollywood, but after 90 minutes of pure tension the stroll into another perfect sunset seems almost welcome.

Gag Comes True For Navy Man

Scott Air Force Base, Ill.—A set of phony orders, drafted as a gag, convinced a navy man assigned to the Military Air Transport service that he was being reassigned to Antarctica.

Before he learned it was a joke, Chief Journalist Leo G. Loftus spent a week assembling cold weather gear.

DOWGARD*

World's first year 'round cooling system fluid
New scientific formulation replaces water in summer, antifreeze in winter. Stops rust and corrosion damage, protects against freezing and overheating for 12 full months. Offers new concept of carefree motoring—summer and winter. Should be installed now for immediate benefits!

If you value performance and economy, you will want to have this new product from Dow installed in your cooling system immediately.

You see, ordinary water—even with the addition of antifreeze or a rust inhibitor—can cause rust and corrosion in your cooling system. This can lead to poor gas mileage, ping, knock, reduced heater-defroster efficiency. And, if left unchecked, burned valves, warped cylinders and heads can result.

New concept—Complete fill
However, now you can end worrisome cooling system problems by having DOWGARD cooling system fluid installed in your car. It is a complete formulation, a new blend of protective chemicals and specially treated de-ionized water. DOWGARD fills the cooling system completely from top to bottom. Nothing else is added—no water, antifreeze or rust inhibitors!

Lasts one full year
DOWGARD protects from 240°F. above zero to 40°F. below. It is the only year 'round coolant you can buy. It prevents overheating in summer, freezing in winter.

Why now? Stops summer rust
Rust and corrosion can form many times faster in summer than in winter. This is particularly true when old antifreeze is left in the cooling system. The only sure way to prevent this damage, and the trouble it brings, is to have DOWGARD cooling system fluid installed in your car now.

Sold only at service dealers
Get DOWGARD at your regular service dealer and enjoy the equivalent of a sealed cooling system for one full year. It's a premium product that gives your car the protection it deserves—one of the wisest investments you can make.

This blue cap is your symbol of complete 12-month protection with DOWGARD

Two Questions Left After Talks By Candidates

3 Governor Aspirants Seek 6th District Caucus Backing

BY ALLAN EKVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Fond du Lac — Two questions were left in the minds of Sixth district Republican delegates at their caucus here Thursday night after the three governor candidates finished their appeals for support at the state convention May 21.

Will Ray Dittmore wind up his government submarine warfare contract in time so that he can put in his name at the convention?
Will Jack Olson enter his name for endorsement and will he abide by the convention decision if not endorsed?

Dittmore expects to get his release to run any day now from the government, he said. To make up for the lost time, he had his name spread broadcast with posters throughout the Hotel Reflow where the caucus was held, including the washrooms.

Awaits Platform
Olson stressed that he would submit his name for endorsement if the platform adopted was one which he could endorse and carry to the far corners of the state. He didn't elaborate on what he could not endorse in a platform.

But, as some wondered, suppose the platform is one he cannot endorse, what will be his plans? Will he run against the endorsed candidate in the Republican primary in September?

Questioned about that, Olson said he had not decided about that yet. Such a decision will await the convention outcome. "I haven't even discussed with my wife anything about that and she should be the first to know."

No endorsement was granted to any candidate except the district's own Cong. William K. Van Pelt who arrived from Washington after the caucus had ended, along with Cong. William H. Ayres of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee to help congressmen and senators

Combating Hoffa's Purge list of senators and congressmen was discussed Thursday night at a Fond du Lac meeting by Con. William H. Jury Out 45 Minutes in Case of Neenah Man Who Shot Companion

Waupaca — A jury of nine rifle. In his attempt to unload the weapon and get back in the car, the rifle discharged. The bullet struck Przybylski in the right shoulder. He died in New London Community hospital about 5 p.m., some three hours after the accident.

Both Anton, Jr., and Robert Przybylski testified they did not see the gun go off, and Naleway said he did not remember exactly what happened. The rifle had been purchased the day before.

The state had charged Naleway with "a high degree of negligence in the use of a firearm." Wisconsin law defines this as "realizing the use creates a situation of unreasonable risk and high probability of death or great bodily harm to another."

While on the witness stand, Naleway testified that after the gun discharged Przybylski said "You shot me." Naleway asked "Did I hit you bad?" "My hand, my hand, I can't feel my hand," Przybylski replied.

Naleway then said they drove to a farm house and asked where the nearest hospital was, and then started toward New London. The farmer in Waupaca county with a license called the sheriff and an am-

Aspirants Meet District GOP

Fond du Lac Caucus Attracts 250 Leaders, Three Candidates

Fond du Lac — The Republican party's three candidates for governor sought the support of the Sixth district delegates at the caucus here Thursday with Ray Dittmore, Milwaukee industrialist, still not knowing if he will run and Jack Olson, Wisconsin Dells, still waiting to hear the platform planks before he decides to submit his name to the convention for its endorsement.

The third candidate, Philip G. Kuehn, Milwaukee, pledged his support of the candidate who gets the endorsement and Dittmore said he would abide by the convention's decision if he submits his name.

Olson told the 250 Republicans at the caucus he would enter his name at the convention if the platform was one which he could endorse. He has not decided what he would do if the platform is one he cannot endorse, he said after the caucus.

Resolutions passed included one supporting the federal loyalty oath for government loans and the affidavit required, though opinion was divided on the affidavit requirement. Federal aid to education was opposed, leading Rufus Schriber, Oshkosh, state finance chairman, to ask how can you be consistent if you approve the student loans and oppose federal aid to education?

A farm program based on the law of supply and demand and on free enterprise with a minimum of government interference, both state and local, also was endorsed. The caucus also called for "immediate relief from burdensome property taxes through a tax revision" but did not specify how the taxes were to be revised.

Lower Fire Rates Asked for Neenah

Drop in 1959 Loss to $27,400 Listed By Chief Zick in Annual Report

Neenah — Requests for a lower class of fire insurance rates which will mean a saving to all citizens have been made, Fire Chief John A. Zick stated in his annual report to the city council.

The completion of the west-side fire station, cross town transmission main and increased water production and pumping facilities at the water plant could reduce the city's insurance rating.

The 1959 fire loss was $27,426 which was appreciably lower than in previous years. Three major fires accounted for $18,239 of that loss and the balance of $9,189 were distributed over 236 fires, he said.

The major fires were a $15,000 complete loss of the frame building and contents on Main street which housed a beauty parlor, loss of a garage and placed on Jimmy Hoffa's purge list.

A telegram from Vice Pres. Nixon backing Van Pelt was read to the approximately 300 Republicans at the caucus.

Expects Release

Dittmore, a Milwaukee industrialist, explained he was not an announced candidate yet, though he had hoped to announce for the governor post last January. "I am on a defense project for the government in submarine warfare and do not know yet if I will be released soon."

He urged the Republicans not to make their main platform a sales tax "but something the people will buy and go for."

Kuehn, a former state Republican chairman, opposed the state farm marketing bill as a "straitjacket for the farmer and food processor." He also argued the "blue ribbon" tax study committee "has failed and failed miserably" and he lauded Sen. William Draham and Chester Dempsey for their proposal to introduce a bill to cut the budget 10 per cent.

Opposes Bi-Partisanship

"I don't believe in government by bi-partisanship," Kuehn emphasized. "The party in power should be able to stand on its own actions."

Olson spoke of his visits to 62 counties and attendance at 28 county caucuses and stressed the need to return Republican senators and assemblymen to Madison. "Why should we bail Nelson out of his problem? They got us into this trouble."

Charles Nolan, Oshkosh attorney, spoke on behalf of Warren Knowles for lieutenant governor. Speaking in behalf of their own candidates were George Greisch, Appleton, and George Thompson, La Crosse, for attorney general, and Ivan Kinzie, Dane county, and William T. Sullivan, Kaukauna, for state treasurer.

NHS Thespians Play in First Musical Comedy

Neenah — Neenah High school thespians ventured into the field of musical comedy Thursday evening with the opening of "Damn Yankees," the Broadway success by George Abbott, based on the book of Douglass Wallop.

Appropriate for the season, "Damn Yankees," is the tale of an elderly Washington man, a rabid rooter for the Senators who is willing to sell his soul to the Devil, played by Jack Bogrand, if it would help the Senators win the pennant.

Doug Pearson, playing Joe Boyd, the fan who becomes transformed into a baseball hero by the devil, provides lively entertainment when the devil introduces his accomplice, Lola, played by Jane Hauser, to try to seduce Joe.

Such hit tunes as "Near to You," "Two Lost Souls" and "You've Gotta Have Heart" are sprinkled through the gay comedy. Performances will be repeated at 8-15 p.m. today and Saturday.

Winchester 4-H 1-Act Play First in County Contest

Oshkosh — Winchester 4-H club's 1-act play, "Father Hits the Jackpot," Thursday won the Winnebago county 4-H drama contest, held in St. John Lutheran church hall.

The play was directed by Eugene Anderson and Mrs. John Kromm. Cast members were Sandra and James Ciesek, Robert Krutz, Susan Christensen, Pamela Olson, Gail Armstrong, Linda Miller, William Popke, Dean Matheson and Wilson Ruff.

Second place play was the Waukegan Warriors' "Old Time Prayer Meeting at Waukegan," directed by the Mmes. Gordon Kitting and William Schoonover.

"Feudin' Fun," the Wee Three 4-H club's entry, won third place in the county contest. It was directed by Elmo Merry, Mrs. Walter Wood and Mrs. Jim Mook.

In fourth place was "Girls Must Talk," entered by Rippling Brook 4-H club, town of Clayton. Cast members were Janice Drews, Sharon Folske, Marie Shepherd, Mary Gertrits, Doris Collins and Alice Koffler.

Frances Klinker of Rippling Brook presented an acrobatic dance, "Alvin's Harmonica," a skit, was done by Roger Neubauer, Jimmie Hill, Carroll Merry and Gifford Angle, of Wee Three. Deborah Duley of the Koro Starr 4-H club played an accordion selection.

Six Persons Injured in Two County Crashes

Appleton, Menasha Drivers Involved in Hy. 41 Mishap

Oshkosh — Konrad J. Hintz, 17, of 1907 S. Madison street, Appleton, and Jean Ashman, 322 E. Lincoln street, Appleton, were taken to St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, in Larry's ambulance after a 2-car mishap on Highway 41 in the town of Menasha about 1:02 a.m. today.

County authorities said a car driven by Rose Mary Fischer, 762 Harding street, Menasha, was struck in the rear by the Hintz auto. The Fischer vehicle traveled 300 feet in a muddy ditch before coming to a stop. Hintz will be ordered to appear at the sheriff's department on his release from the hospital to answer a charge of going too fast to avoid a collision.

Hintz suffered severe lacerations about the head and numerous bumps and bruises. Miss Ashman received a cut on the forehead and bumps and bruises on her knees and legs. Mrs. Fischer was advised to see a physician. A passenger was uninjured.

Four Oshkosh men were injured when a truck driven by Stanley W. Karow, 47, Fairview lane, route 5, Oshkosh, went off Highway 45 in the town of Clayton and rolled into the ditch Thursday evening.

Karow said something seemed to happen to the steering gear and the truck went across the highway out of control. The truck was owned by Flour Brothers Construction company.

Karow suffered a severe back injury, contusions of the left elbow and chest injuries. His condition is satisfactory. Lawrence Pillar, 41, of 914 W. Sixth avenue, received contusions of the scalp and a finger injury. Burton Hoeft, 32, of 907 W. Seventh avenue, was treated for lacerations of both

Study Committee

The Winnebago county resolution for a "red, white and blue committee" was presented by Charles Nolan of Oshkosh who asked that a study be made of all government operations and not just the taxes with a view to cutting down expenses and eliminating duplication of services.

Driver Forfeits $125 On Traffic Charges

Forrest C. Angell, route 1, Larsen, forfeited $55 for failing to report an accident.

contents on Smith street which amounted to $1,788 and partial damage to a carpet shop building under construction on S. Commercial street, for which the loss was $1,404.

The fire chief thanked the council for putting into the budget $5,000 toward the $26,000 cost of a new pumper to replace the No. 3 pumper purchased in 1936 and for which the state fire insurance rating bureau requested a replacement in 1956.

242 Calls

The fire department last year received 242 fire calls, five false alarms and five rescue calls. The total loss on calls to which the fire department was called was $27,000 while there was an additional loss of $6,523 on fires to which the department was not called.

There were 58 careless smoking claims for which the loss was $1,521. Total fire loss last year was $33,953.

The 1958 total was 203 alarms, one false alarm and four rescue calls. Total fire loss of $45,402 included $36,156 on fires to which the department was called and $9,246 in fires to which the department was not called. The 37 careless smoking claims represented damages of $3,485.

Although only 199 fire runs were made in 1957, plus two false alarms and three rescue calls, the total loss was $266,508. Of this amount, $7,920 was in fire loss to which the department was not called. Sixty careless smoking claims that year accounted for a $2,420 loss.

A breakdown of the causes for the fires last year to which the department was called showed electrical causes accounted for a loss of $18,828. The other causes and losses were grease $835, sparks $2,227, rubbish $124, spontaneous combustion $1,782, blow torch $2,281, unknown $120, miscellaneous causes $2,803 and smoking $324. The damage included $19,056 to buildings and $8,372 to contents.

Of the $6,526 in claims for fires not attended by the department the causes and loss were cigarettes, $1,521, children playing with matches $48, grease $684, miscellaneous $278, wiring $901, heating systems $756, lightning $1,728 and buildings came to $3,005 and to contents $3,521.

Leopold Triplets to Mark 1st Birthday

Menasha — Three frosted miniature cakes, each decorated with a single pink candle, symbolize a year of adjustment to a novelty in the family for the James Leopolds, 383 Winnebago avenue. The Leopold triplets, Pamela Lynn, Patricia Lou and Paula Lee, who arrived last Mothers day, will celebrate their first birthday, Tuesday, May 10. The threesome, lively good natured babies, will make their public debut Sunday, when they are baptized at First Congregational church. The year of adjustment to what physicians say is 8000 to 1 odds of happening, has meant such diversities as building a 3-bedroom addition to their home to the inevitable publicity and questioning by strangers. Although she remembers the first three months as being "rather on the grisly side," Mrs Leopold has had the advantage of three older daughters, who have acted as "mother's helpers." One Differs Susan, 11, Christy, 9, and Jody, soon to be 5, each selected a baby "as her very own," when the triplets were brought home from Theda Clark Memorial hospital. "It's amazing how it turned out," remarked Mrs. Leopold. "The babies each girl has picked either has turned out to look like or act like the older girl."

Susan, a pretty blond, acts a "mother" to Patricia, the hands, but not Paula's. Although Mrs Leopold, the other two Patricia is a curly headed blond with blue eyes and a more relaxed disposition than her counterparts, who have straight brown hair, brown eyes and are look-alikes. Patricia appears to have a more placid untroubled nature when in the company of the animated Pamela and Paula. Christy, a dark eyed elfin beauty, takes charge of Pamela, assisting with her feeding, dressing and play periods. Jody won't let anyone touch Paula," related Susan. "She spank at Paula's hands when she is eating. It's okay if we

AND IT'S BIG SAVINGS NEWS FOR FOX CITIES PEOPLE

To Our Friends of the Fox River Valley:

It is with great pleasure that we are able to announce that we have purchased the Haertl Jewelry Store of Neenah. It then follows that with regret we must discontinue the operation of our present store, McCarthy Jewelers.

This leaves us faced with the problem of disposing of approximately $70,000 worth of fine diamonds, watches, rings, silverware, china, and glassware. Everything contained in the McCarthy store must be sold in a relatively short time, so we fully realize that we must ignore costs, except for a few items which have already been adjusted, and cut prices for immediate action.

All of the Fox River Valley knows that we have stocked only top brands of merchandise. This is our original stock and the original price tag will remain on every item in our store, along with the new low sale price marked in red. Reductions will range as much as 20%, 30%, 40%, 50%, and in some instances even more. We will offer bargains that come only once in a lifetime. Obviously all sales must be final and for cash.

McCarthy's will therefore be closed for five days, Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday to give us the opportunity to reprise our entire stock. However, if you have repair work or lay-aways on the premises, they can be called for by just knocking on the door and we will be happy to accomodate you, but nothing will be sold.

We wish to take this opportunity to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the thousands of fine customers we have had the privilege of serving during all these years, and we sincerely hope and trust that they will join us at the new store and allow us to serve them even better. Our stock will now be made up of the combined lines of the two stores, representing most of the finest jewelry in the country. Then too, we also hope that we will have the opportunity and privilege to continue to serve all the fine people who are and have been patrons of the Haertl store for so many years. We will continue to operate this store on the same standard and with the same integrity it has enjoyed for so many years.

We invite you all to be on hand when our sale opens next Thursday morning at 10.00 A.M. It will be an opportunity to purchase gifts for graduation, anniversaries, birthdays, or for any other occasion. It is not unreasonable to think of a handsome watch, a fine diamond, or gleaming silverware even for next Christmas. We know that by anticipating all your gift needs for the entire year you will save handsomely.

Sincerely,
Harmon McCarthy

"Before and After" Pictures of the home of George P. Larson, 512 Caroline street, Neenah. The picture above was taken about 1895. Below, taken from almost the same spot, is the house as it appears today. Painted dark red, with white trim, the pictures show what can be done with old houses by using imagination. The house has been lived in by members of the same family for almost 80 years.

80 Years in Same Family

House Can Compete in Function, Charm With Today's Dwellings

Neenah — A house that can compete in both function and charm with houses being built today is 80 years old and has been lived in continuously by members of the same family.

The house, at 512 Caroline street, Neenah, is presently owned and lived in by Mr. and Mrs. George P. Larson and their children; it was the home of his grandparents, his parents and his brother before him.

Each family modernized and improved the house in some way until today it is almost unrecognizable from the original pictures.

The largest remodeling job was done about five years ago when plans drawn by Mr. and Mrs. George P. Larson and executed by "a friend who is a carpenter." Painted dark red, with white trim, the house has a new porch, hand- some landscaping and a roomy back yard.

Dutch Door
Entering the Dutch front door one is in an early Amer- ican kitchen, which is roomy and cozy at the same time, and is a gathering place for the family.

To the right is the living room whose unusual book- shelves, built flush with the wall, swing out like a door to conceal a large, roomy closet.

Larson's hobbies and art- ists' workroom in his basement are in every room in the house. He has worked with watercolors and crayons and his pictures hang in the living room. He designs iron- ing in the field of creative pieces of all types, ranging from andirons to ornamental animals and kitchen equip- do well."

He makes a pattern in wood, which is cast in iron by a local foundry.

He also carves art objects, such as animals and fig- ures from solid blocks of wood.

Larson has model sailboats built by his grandfather, his father and himself. His son is presently building another to add to the family fleet.

Collects Guns
He also collects guns and has a great many, well dis- played in his den. Some of his antique furniture has been in his family for a couple of gen- erations; some of it he bought from dealers and refinished in his spare time. A sea- cap- tain's chair in the living room is in prime condition after re- freshing and is well over 100 years old.

Larson is a painter and dec- orator by profession and has his shop at 109 Church street. Even here there are antiques which he is going to work on "when there is time."

His wife is very sympathet- ic with his hobbies. She said, "He is always bringing some- thing home and working on it downstairs in his basement workroom. It relaxes him more than anything else and I wish he had more time to do and his pictures hang in the living room. He designs iron- ing in the field of creative

St. Mary, Oshkosh Vie In FVC Doubleheader

Zephyrs Rained Out in Non-League Game at Hortonville; Play Stevens Point on Sunday

Menasha — Washed out in Thursday's scheduled non-league encounter at Hortonville, the St. Mary baseballers are slated to make their next appearance at Oshkosh Saturday afternoon in a Fox River Valley conference doubleheader.

The Rev. Donald Stoegebauer, athletic director, said this morning that because of the tight schedule the Hortonville rainout probably will not be rescheduled. And as of this morning, Saturday's date at Oshkosh also looked dubious. St. Mary is scheduled to play Sunday at Stevens Point.

St. Mary currently has a 1-5 conference record and it owns an overall 1-6 slate. The six losses have come in succession.

The Menashans have, however, come close in all of their league starts. Three of the defeats were by 2-run margins, another was by a one-run spread and the fifth was by three markers. Their only thrashing came at the hands

Shorewood Next Rocket Tennis Foe

Neenah Bids for Fifth Victory in Non-League Match

Neenah — The Neenah tennis team, the only Twin City spring sports squad which hasn't been saddled with a defeat, plays host to Shorewood in a non-conference tennis match Saturday morning.

The Rockets go into Saturday's encounter with four straight wins. They've beaten three Mid-Eastern conference foes and have a non-league verdict over Appleton. Neenah has lost only two of 28 the singles and doubles matches.

Shorewood formerly was a power in the Milwaukee Suburban conference but in recent seasons the Greyhounds have run into lean years and last spring were blanked by the Rockets 9-0.

Neenah's singles players will include Dick Wilson, Jack and Doug Ankerson, Steve Price, Dale Mrotek and Bruce Miller or John Schmeier. The Rockets were rained out against Wauwatosa, their only other Milwaukee area foe, and the match probably will not be rescheduled.

Women's Softball Loop Makes Plans For 1960 Season

Menasha — The Fox Valley Women's softball league made plans for its fourth season at a meeting Tuesday night at the Memorial building.

Rita Merkel was elected president; Mable Horn, vice president; Darlene Gengler, secretary, and Betty Gracyal, treasurer. The 8-team league will have entries from Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Omro, Oshkosh, and Green Bay.

Another meeting to approve the schedule will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday night at the Memorial building. The league will play on Wednesday nights and is expected to start about June 1.

Fritsch Loft 1st In Pigeon Club Race From Sparta

Menasha — A bird from the loft of Howard Fritsch won the first weekly pigeon race sponsored by the Valley Flying club, negotiating the distance from Sparta in 1,809.80 yards per minute.

The birds were released at 7:30 a.m. Sunday and the winner was home at 10:11.18. A total of 178 birds from 19 lofts participated. The weather was clear and cool with southwest winds.

The Robert Natrop loft was second in 1,204.36 and the Russ Mapes loft came in third in 1,299.60. Birds from the Gerhard Kanless loft were fourth and fifth.

The summary:

1. Howard Fritsch, 1,809.80; 2. Robert Natrop, 1,204.36; 3. Russ Mapes, 1,299.60; 4. Gerhard Kanless, 1,265.10; 5. Kanless, 1,260.54; 6. Robert Bernard, 1,246.61; 7. Al Borree, 1,244.80; 8. Menasha's Hyde to Run Against UW

Iowa City, Ia. — Menasha's Tom Hyde is expected to run for the University of Iowa when it entertains Wisconsin in a dual track Saturday.

Hyde, twice state class B 100-yard dash champion while participating for Menasha High school, is a junior on the Hawkeye squad. He is a short distance sprinter and quarter miler.

The former Bluejay star had a successful indoor season but suffered a pulled muscle in his left leg and has been slowed up some since then.

Coach Francis Cretzmeyer said "Tom is one of the most improved men we have on the squad this year. He's a good competitor and has a lot of desire."

Rocket Squad Takes On Kaukauna Ghosts

Neenah Attempts To Even League Record at 2-2

Neenah — Neenah will attempt to end a 2-game losing string when it jaunts to Kaukauna Saturday for a Mid-Eastern conference baseball game.

The Rockets were rained out in Thursday's home makeup against Clintonville and the contest has been rescheduled for next Monday. The Red and White were postponed in games last Saturday, Tuesday and Thursday but between rainfalls managed to get in the Saturday makeup Wednesday at Shawano.

Neenah's abbreviated record shows a win, two losses and a tie. The Rockets are 1-2 in conference play. Kaukauna has a 3-1 mark which is good enough for a first place tie with Menasha. The Ghosts lost the first game to Menasha but have come through with victories in their last three starts.

The Rockets in their last two outings, eight days apart, lost 2-1 to Menasha and 9-1 to Shawano. It has beaten New

Bluejays Face Kimberly, SHS In Tennis Meet

Menasha — Something unique in Mid-Eastern conference tennis play is scheduled here Saturday morning (weather permitting) when Menasha entertains Shawano and Kimberly in a triangular.

Each team is expected to enter three or four singles players and a doubles combination. Full details haven't been announced.

The Bluejays defeated Shawano in a conference dual and have lost to Neenah. The Menashans own an overall 3-1 slate. Shawano has a 7-0 win over Kimberly and has been beaten by the two Twin City teams while the Papermakers have 0-3.

Menasha was rained out in Thursday's non-league home match against Appleton.

Wolves Blank Omro High 7-0

Mueller Allows 3 Hits, Fans 7 in Little Nine Game

Winneconne — Winneconne boosted its Little Nine conference record to 2-0 with a 7-0 blanking of Omro Wednesday afternoon as Ron Mueller pitched a 3-hitter and struck out seven. He also walked seven.

Ed Pollex started for the Wolves but wrenched his arm in the second inning and was relieved by freshman Bob Olkiewicz. It is expected that Pollex will be lost for the season.

The Wolves scored two runs in the first inning on Dale Johnson's homer with Bill Malnary on base. They added loners in the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth.

Ron Anunson, Johnson and Mueller all had two hits for Winneconne. The Wolves, who also have a league win over Bear Creek and have been beaten by the Oshkosh Jayvees, draw a bye from league play next week. Still on the agenda is a makeup with co-leading Hortonville.

Newsman Hear of Summit, Little Boys' Paper Routes

Told Newspaper Circulation Has Kept Pace With Adult Population

Newsman attending the University of Wisconsin's Journalism Institutes today, heard editors and educators speak on topics ranging from the summit conference to 12-year-old boys' paper routes.

George V. Ferguson, editor-in-chief of the Montreal Star, said that as the free world moves toward the summit, "two contradictory lines are taken officially. One consists of an assurance that every effort is being made toward peace. The other is that the western coalition is not prepared to give up anything important."

"If we are to make progress toward peace — even a little progress — something has to give, somebody has to give up something. This is what peace means."

Ferguson charged that newspapers today aren't challenging the government, continually seeking out truth and probing the government's action on foreign issues.

Papers Keep Pace
"There has been some mention, and with some glee by competing mass media, that circulation of U. S. daily newspapers have not kept pace with population growth," said George A. Brandenburg, midwest editor of Editor and Publisher magazine. "That is true."

"But by the same yardsticks of comparison, it can be said that U. S. daily newspaper circulation have exceeded the increase in adult population in the last 20 years. Since 1940, the number of U. S. adults increased 24 per cent, while daily newspaper circulation increased 43 per cent."

The daily newspaper, as today's recorder of American history, is an important tool in education, said Robert F. Flahive, supervisor of community relations in Milwaukee public schools.

Flahive said that teachers should use newspapers as "living textbooks" in almost every subject.

"The newspaper, like a recipe, must be read correctly and carefully for the best results. To this end, pupils should be taught to distinguish fact from opinion and identify propaganda; to know the nature and structure of news stories, editorials, and features; to understand the purpose and role of headlines, pictures, and cartoons and to recognize the value of advertisements." Flahive emphasized.

Lawrence Hamilton, circulation manager of the Detroit News, recommended that newspapers restrict the size of routes for younger paper boys, help the carriers with their problems and sponsor scholarships for them.

Analyze Voting
"Somewhat to the surprise of both parties, the evidence indicates that farm townships and urban areas tend to vote in much the same way," Donald R. Murphy, editorial research director for Wallace Farmer and Wisconsin Agriculturalist, said.

"And both (areas) split off from towns under 10,000," he added. "Part of this may be a product of a greater amount of city work experience on the part of farm people."

LaCrosse county in western Wisconsin probably reflects most precisely the electoral behavior of the state as a whole, reported James R. Donoghue, UW professor of political science.

Nelson to Speak
Donoghue and his associates studied the average deviation of each Wisconsin county from the statewide vote for governor since 1848. The counties deviating least during that period were Racine, Iowa, Wood, St. Croix, Lafayette and LaCrosse. LaCrosse county deviated the least during the last 14 years.

Saturday, the newsmen will hear Gov. Gaylord Nelson, George Romney, president of American Motors corporation; Carlos Quirino, of the Philippines, president of PanAsia Lines Alliance, and William McCall, United Press International vice president.

Federal Paper Mill Bill Said Near Passage

Proxmire Forecasts Success for Pilot Project in State

Foot-Crescent News Service

Washington, D. C. — Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin says his bill to direct the national government to establish a federally financed pilot newspaper mill in northern Wisconsin is nearing passage.

The junior senator forecast in his newsletter to Wisconsin voters success for the measure that was denounced three years ago by Wisconsin paper manufacturers when Proxmire first uttered it during his campaign for the senate seat.

Paper men said private industry has already provided extensive and sufficient research on the use of new materials and processes in paper production (The Appleton Post-Crescent at one time had an interest in such a mill in the south).

Proxmire said he wants the government to show the way to the use of low-grade hardwoods, including the aspen which is abundant throughout upper Wisconsin, for making paper.

Process Feasible
Proxmire said the U. S. forest service has already shown that the process is economically and technically feasible.

He said his bill for pilot plants for both finding new industrial uses for agricultural and forest products surplus is also being backed by the Wisconsin state govern-

An Indian Burial Pit containing these bones of three young Indians was uncovered on the Louis Reese farm near Leeman. The bones are being studied by Chandler W. Trading Slow On Market

Airlines Lead
Advances in Uneven Trading

New York — Airlines, aircraft and electronics advanced early this afternoon in an irregular stock market. Trading was slow over-all.

Turnover among the favored issues was more brisk than in the pivotal rally, utilities and industrials. Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed in these groups.

Among the "science" and other issues which have drawn speculative interest, gains ran to about 7 for Texas Instruments and around 4 for Haves.

Aircraft and some other defense-related issues gave belated recognition to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's bristling speech.

Airlines went ahead solidly on news they were moving to increase fares under a new civil aeronautics board ruling. Rails, motors, steels, tobacco and nonferrous metals were mixed.

The market as a whole was in its second day of uncertainty following a strong rebound from the 1940 lows.

Universal Match wiped out an early loss of more than 3 and showed a net gain of close to a point.

United Air Lines and Pan American advanced more than a point each. Eastern and Douglas Aircraft were about a point higher.

American Telephone dropped a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .32 to 608.64.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 10 at 211.30 with the industrials up 20, the rails up .20 and the utilities down 10.

Corporate bonds and U.S. government bonds advanced.

Southeastern Area Planning Agency Likely

Madison — County boards in a southeastern Wisconsin block were told today the area is likely to come under the state's first regional planning agency.

The agency would carry out industrial, land use, natural resource, transportation and public facilities planning for the area. It would be Wisconsin's first created under a 1935 law.

Petitions for establishment of the agency have been filed by Milwaukee, Waukegan, Okauchee, Waubesa and Ozaukee county boards. They also propose including Racine, Walworth, Washington and Kenosha counties. Board decisions there are pending.

A planning commission would have seven members named by the county boards, and 14 named by the governor. Its activities would be financed by a property tax levied regionally.

Milwaukee Livestock

Milwaukee — Live stock.

Estimated hog receipts 500, steady; bulk of butchers 190-220 lbs 16-25-75, bulk of sows 20-60 lbs 12-15-14-50; stags 10-60-11-00; boars 9-10-10-00.

Cattle estimated receipts 300; Thursday's cow market strong; canners and cutters 13-00-16-50; utilities 16-50-17-50; dairy bred heifers 16-50-19-00; utility to commercial 16-50-19-50; bull market steady; 20-00-20-50; canners and utilities 15-00-19-50, fed cattle steady; good to choice steers 20-00-25-50; good to choice heifers 21-00-25-50.

Calves estimated receipts 200; Thursday's market steady; choice and prime 32-00-33-00; top 34-00; good to choice 28-00-31-00; standard grades 23-00-27-00; cull and utilities 16-00-23-00.

Sheep, lambs estimated receipts 50, Thursday's market steady; good to choice old crop 19-00-22-00; good to choice shorn lambs 19-00-21-50, cull to medium 9-00-14-00, ewes 6-50 down.

Scattered Showers or Thunderstorms are forecast for parts of the Great Lakes region, Ohio, Tennessee, middle Mississippi valley and Georgia. Mostly fair weather with clear to partly cloudy skies is expected elsewhere throughout the country.

Ark Theme of Sermon Good For Weather

A Kaskaskia minister has picked an apt sermon title for Sunday. "As in Days of Noah" can have two meanings, since heavy rainfall in the Fox Cities may require use of an ark soon.

Then, too, the sin of Noah's era may be back of the sermon title. The 1.04 inch of rain in less than 12 hours last night is a sin, too. So is the weather.

There may be a lull in the storm. The weatherman promised fair skies and cool temperatures for the week-end.

Rain continued over the state today with locally heavy amounts in the southeast. The northwest portion of the state has cool weather along with rain today.

When You're Satisfied We're Satisfied... And You're Satisfied Most With A Brand That's Made A Name For Itself

You prove it to us, and yourself, every week of the year. We have built our reputation on your confidence, and know that advertised brand names mean quality, value and satisfaction. The manufacturer proudly puts his name on the label to make it easy for you to buy the best, and we are proud to sell "brands that have made names for themselves."

APPLETON POST-CRESCENT

Post-Crescent Photos

Gerald Voeks, route 2, Black Creek, has never had a tractor sink into the ground as did the one above. He was hauling manure when the tractor sunk to its axle. A manure spreader, left, sits in muck in a field. It was left there when the wet conditions made it impossible to move it. Few farmers remember such a wet spring. It is the first such in about 52 years, many say. Last year seeding was completed by this date. This year farmers are nearly two weeks behind with seeding. Only 5 per cent of spring plowing has been completed. Fall plowing wasn't completed because of wet conditions, thus adding to spring problems.

City Area Farmers Worried About Planting

Heavy Rains Stall Field Work, Spring Plowing Far Behind

Don Schaefer, field man for the Chilton Canning company, said the season's first planting began Thursday. Ordinarily the company's 400 acres of early peas would have been in by May 1. Planting usually begins by April 15.

This will push canning back from about June 20 to early July and, depending upon weather conditions, could affect quality. June's traditionally warm, moist climate is ideally suited to the crop. The hot dry weather often encountered in July could force ripen the peas, making them harder and less sweet.

Worst in 52 Years
The Calumet-Dutch canning company, Brillion, reports not a single acre in. It generally contracts about 65 acres of early peas. Under ordinary circumstances it would, at this time, have about 350 acres of early and middle varieties planted. One Outagamie county farmer said he hasn't had to start seeding grain in May but three times in 52 years. Grain

Spraying of Weeds Aids Crop Growth

Hipke Gives Pesticide Talk

Assemblyman Part Of Dealer Program At Chilton Hotel

Chilton—Assemblyman G. J. Hipke, New Holstein, presented his views on a county-wide educational program on the safe usage of pesticides at a recent meeting of spray material dealers at Hotel Chilton.

Hipke, author of a county board resolution setting up the control of pesticides on agricultural products, stressed the importance of producing high quality agricultural products, thus maintaining the county's position as an agricultural leader. He warned against contamination by misuse of pesticides.

Problems regarding weed control were discussed by Orrin Meyer, county agent, and Don Peterson, college of agriculture weed specialist. Peterson included in his talk recommendations for control of thistles, quack grass and other problem weeds.

Ellsworth Fisher, college of agriculture insect specialist, stressed the use of materials for which tolerances have been established by the Food and Drug administration. He pointed out that there should be a 7-day waiting period between spraying and harvesting of field crops.

Twenty-five dealers attended the meeting.

4-H Clubs to Judge Calumet County Cattle

Chilton — Calumet county 4-H club members will judge cattle Wednesday at the KT Farms, route 1, Hilbert. Paul Christoph and Don Steege will be coaches.

All members interested in cattle judging are asked to be present at the training meetings. Membership on a judging team is not a requirement.

Level Ground Bad

Greatest number of accidents caused by tractors overturning occur while the tractors are being operated on level ground.

Back Breaking Hoeing and Tilling of Fields Replaced By Chemical Treatments

A lot of hoeing, a good back-ache and blisters once were the way of trying to rid a garden or field of weeds.

Tillage and vigorous forage crops still are generally the most effective and economical weed control measures.

Weeds that spread by seed should be cut or cultivated before they mature.

In crops that cannot be cultivated or where cultivation isn't practical, chemical weed killers (herbicides) are often used.

Herbicides are used along with cultivation and cropping practices to control weeds.

Herbicides are powerful chemicals.

A few ounces may injure many acres of sensitive plants when improperly used.

Many wild flowers and native plants can be killed by herbicides. The chemicals should not be used on roadsides, fence rows and waste areas unless serious weed problems make treatment necessary.

Understanding of a few common weed control terms helps a herbicide user.

Acid Equivalents

Application rates refer to pure acid equivalents. Liquid formulas will specify the pounds of pure chemical per gallon. Powder preparations give the per cent of pure material per pound.

Active ingredient refers to the acid used. Band treatment refers to application in bands, usually 12 to 14 inches wide over the crop rows. Drop-nozzle application refers to application as a directional spray to avoid coverage of a crop.

Pre-plant is the application of an herbicide before the crop is planted. Pre-emergence is application of an herbicide to soil after the crop is planted but before it emerges. Post-emergence is application after the plant has emerged.

Affects Differently

Each chemical weedkiller affects plants differently.

A mixture called 2,4-D will kill nearly all broadleaved weeds. It usually doesn't affect grass-type plants. It is mixed with water and sprayed. It is sold in liquid form as either amine or ester preparations.

Amine is used to kill weeds in growing crops. Ester is used in non-crop land. Fumes

Quality Has Open House For Dealers

New London — About 1,200 retail distributors of Quality Packing House, Inc., attended an open house tour of the firm's plants here Sunday afternoon.

Twelve guides were used to show the visitors through the plant from the receiving department to the finished meat preparation department.

The group attended from Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Ripon, Wisconsin, Wausau, Marshfield, Waupun and the entire Fox river valley area. Other guests were livestock suppliers.

The open house started about 1 p.m. and ended at 6 p.m.

Drop in Cholera Vaccinations Bad

Washington — The agriculture department said today the current low rate of vaccination of pigs is setting the stage for a possible costly outbreak of hog cholera.

Caused by a virus, cholera is the most serious of all swine infections. There is no cure or treatment for the disease.

The trend toward vaccinating fewer animals has prevailed for the last five or six years. A survey showed that there were one million fewer pigs vaccinated last year, although the pig crop was seven million head larger.

The department said, however, there is no evidence at this time that the prevalence of hog cholera is increasing.

Feeder Pig Prices Rise

April Figures Show
$10.90 a Head or
$1.87 Over March

Wisconsin feeder pig prices rose sharply from March to April but are below a year ago, according to the Wisconsin Crop Reporting service.

Reports from Wisconsin farmers in April show feeder pig prices averaged $10.90 a head. This price is $1.87 more than reported for March 1 but 92 cents below the April 1959 average. The 1954-58 April 1 feeder pig price is $13.14 a head. These prices are for pigs averaging 8 weeks of age and 40 pounds.

Wisconsin feeder pig prices show an almost uninterrupted drop from the high of $14.29 in November 1958 to the low of $6.51 at the beginning of this year.

The upswing in Wisconsin feeder pig prices since the beginning of the year results in part from a smaller supply, record farm stocks of corn for April 1, and some strengthening in the market price of hogs. Farmers in the state have 58 per cent more corn on

Wittenberg Man New Head of Electric Co-op

Grimstad succeeds Vernon Birong, who announced his pending retirement as president of Jump River Electric cooperative, Ladysmith.

A 10-man board of directors was elected at the meeting, including Grimstad, president; V. M. Dufek, Eau Claire, vice president, and Otis Berger, Barron, secretary-treasurer. W. V. Thomas, Madison, is manager, and Herman Eichman, Madison, comptroller. Directors include C. H. Hooversen, Gays Mills; John P. Madgett, La Crosse; Leo Wallace, Richland Center; W. E. Rabe, Tomah; John E. Magnin, Lena; Lawrence Cole, Waterloo; and Don Johnson, vice president, Columbus, Ohio.

With the poor keeping quality of last year's crop because of high moisture content, farmers will have to dispose of it soon as feed or have it shelled and dried.

Machinery Taking Big Dollar Bite

Machinery is taking a bigger and bigger share of the farmer's invested dollar. This is partly because he's buying bigger machines and more of them.

Figures show that machinery operating costs and depreciation make up more than 40 per cent of the production costs on farms in the state.

The average investment in machinery on dairy farms in eastern Wisconsin went from $1,880 in 1936 to $7,300 in 1958.

There's now more equipment on farms — especially tractors. Farmers in the state operated more than 50,000 more tractors in 1957 than in 1950. And they were using 23,000 more hay balers, 23,000 additional combines and 15,000 more corn pickers than they had been seven years before.

Besides coming in greater numbers, much of today's machinery is bigger than it was 10 years ago. More than 80 per cent of the tractors now are at least 40 h.p. This compares to early 1950's when only one-fourth were that size.

Cattle Sale Brings Farmer $54,970

Leonard Seybold's Forest Junction
Holsteins Average $743 Per Head

Forest Junction—Some 1,200 Bogota, Colombia, South farmers from about 10 Wisconsin counties and four other states saw 74 head of purebred and grade Holstein cattle go for $54,970 in a dispersal sale at Leonard Seybold's Meadow Brook farm here Tuesday.

The top cow, a 9-year-old purebred went to Christ Meyer, Shiner, for $1,700. Second high went for $1,400 to Henry Binversie and Sons, route 1, Kiel. A West DePere farmer, Orbert Garow, purchased the third high cow for $1,375.

Seybold's dairying dated back to about 1917 when he received two cows and a heifer as a gift from his father. About 700 animals were registered in the herd in 43 years.

Sold Out of County
Meadow Brook cows have been sold to Iowa, Minnesota, Colorado, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Georgia and Louisiana. One cow and one heifer were sold in America.

Six of Seybold's cattle Tuesday were purchased by a New Orleans, La., farmer, C. W. Ruckstuhl. Ruckstuhl paid a total of $3,665. A Claremont, Miss., farmer, Lowell Mollenhauer, paid $900 for a cow.

Most of the stock sold out of Calumet county, where the farm is located. Four buyers were from Calumet county, five from Outagamie and six from Brown.

Hilmer Mueller, Seymour, purchased three cows for his Outagamie county farm. He paid $2,105 for them. Average price was $743. The average ranged from a high of $972 when 10 head were sold to the overall average. Other counts during the sale were $890 at 20 head, $762 at 30 head, $813 at 40 head, $806 at 50 head and $778 at 60 head.

Salesmen for Piper Brothers, auctioneer, Watertown, said the sale was the best dispersal yet this year. The average price was $33 higher than a sale in the southern part of the state last week, the auctioneer said.

No Other Plans
Seybold has no plans beyond the sale. Arrangements for the auction and details of the sale of his 140-acre farm to Donald Schnell, Forest Junction, have kept Seybold busy.

Seybold's herd not only brought a high overall sale price so far this year, but merited him recognition in the past.

He served 12 years on the board of directors of the Holstein Friesian association of Wisconsin. He has been a member of the organization 40 years, serving as vice president and president.

He is a delegate to the national convention at Syracuse, N. Y., in June. In 1923 Seybold was first elected secretary of the Calumet county Holstein association. Twelve years later he was one of the founders of the Calumet County Dairy Herd Improvement association.

Three of his cows made state records. His animals also were in exhibits at the Wisconsin state fair. Entries also were made in the international dairy show at Chicago.

Farm Accident Rate
Accidents in the farm home kill more than 2,700 and injure nearly 400,000 farm residents each year.

Weather Hits Farmers Hard

seeding is usually done in April. Grain went in twice in March. This was in 1910 and 1945, he said.

Heavy rains last weekend and Monday will keep most farmers off fields for another 10 days.

A Calumet county farmer estimates a bumper crop of corn because many farmers will turn from oats to corn. The bumper crop will come from increased corn acreage, not a good growing season—so far.

Corn on Schedule

About one fourth of the spring plowing is done in the southern half of the state. Field work north of a line from Sheboygan to the Twin Cities remains at a standstill.

Corn planting will be on schedule if dry weather develops. Corn normally goes in about May 25. Some farmers had to drop plans for early corn because of wet ground.

Wet field conditions also have delayed the planting of canning peas, one of the area's major vegetable cash crops.

Cut Pea Crop

The Wisconsin Canners association said the season is likely to be a week to 10 days late. Some canners say they will be required to reduce their pea acreage.

Pastures generally are too soft of grass stands too short for grazing. Pasture is barely more than dormant in the north but is greening elsewhere. Soil moisture is adequate in all areas. There appears to be little winter kill of new hay seeding.

The crop reporting service

Friday, May 6, 1960 Appleton Post-Crescent 5

said today pastures may have come through the winter in better than average condition.

Pastures Late

Reports indicate the condition of pastures April 1 averaged 90 per cent of normal for the state as a whole.

The pasture season will begin late this year, further depleting feed supplies.

One farmer in Outagamie county estimates he will cut his first crop of hay by June 10. Moisture content, however, will be high, he said.

Where oats lodged last year or were unharvested, as was the case in the north, much hay seeding underneath has been smothered.

A few farmers have started seeding potatoes in northern counties. Sheridan, in Wau-paca county, reported potato planting starting last week.

Milk Quota Plan Outlined During Co-op Meeting

Farmers Could Sell, Trade Bases As They Would Cows, Machinery

Post-Crescent News Service
Shawano — Milk production controls with several novel gimmicks were proposed here Tuesday by a noted dairy economist.

The principal feature of the plan outlined by Judson P. Mason is a negotiable base or quota provision. Each producer would be assigned a base, but also would be free to buy another farmer's quota or to sell his own.

Just as the soil bank program is employed to retire land from production, the government could purchase dairy bases to control total milk production without restricting individual farmers.

May Be Acceptable
Mason, who spoke at the annual meeting of the Consolidated Badger cooperative, is director of the economics division of the National Milk Producers federation.

"The bases of individual producers would not be reduced for the purpose of balancing supplies with present demand," he explained. "Instead, further increases in national milk supply would be determined by his production during a recent period, say the preceding one, two or three years, Mason said.

Whenever it became evident demand would exceed supply, the bases of producers could be increased.

The bases, or quotas, would become property rights. They could be bought and sold, traded and swapped in the same manner as cows, land and machinery.

Fee Charged
"The program could not be considered as an arbitrary, rigid system of production control of individual farmers," he asserted. "It is a flexible system for adjusting total production to demand at price levels designed to give dairy farmers a reasonable return through the market place."

Any production in excess of base would be subjected to a fee deductible from the market price. Mason suggested that this money could be turned over to the government to partially offset the cost of the program.

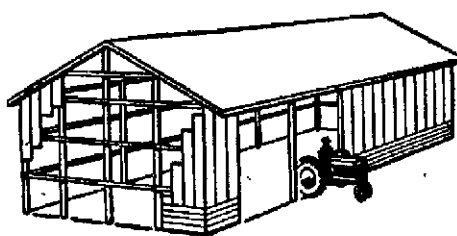

The government's price support program wouldn't be dumped, at least not immediately. Control of supplies, however, undoubtedly would mean that gradually decreasing quantities of dairy products would be offered to the government. That, of course, would mean higher prices for the farmer.

Continue Programs
"If successfully administered," Mason stated, "this program might eliminate in a few years most of the cost of maintaining the price support purchases."

The base plan also calls for continuation of the government's special milk program, the school lunch purchases, increased consumption by the military and foreign aid.

A special committee of university men, serving as individuals, drafted the proposal. Prof. Harlow W. Halverson of the University of Wisconsin was one of the committee members. Others were Charles E. French, Purdue; V. H. Nielsen, Iowa State, and Leland Spencer, Cornell.

The plan will be presented to dairy producers in the coming months, Mason explained. Then it will be submitted for either adoption or rejection by the National Milk Producers Federation at its convention in New Orleans next November.

from ester preparations may damage nearby susceptible crops. Special low-volatile esters are available that don't produce as many fumes.

Recommendations Made
Another herbicide used in the Fox Cities area is called Dinitro. It is used as a pre-emergence treatment for annual weeds, or as an early post-emergence treatment to kill weed seedlings. It is a yellow dye-like liquid.

Several recommendations have been made for purchase and mixing of herbicides. It should be determined if amine or ester preparation is desired. The number of pounds of pure chemical to use per gallon of water influences cost.

Worst Weeds
Amount of coverage should be determined before a spray solution is mixed. When mixing a solution, the chemical should be measured carefully. A container is half filled with water, the chemical added and rest of the water added.

Some of the most difficult weeds to control are Canada and sow thistles, field bindweed, leafy spurge, yellow rocket and white cockle. The latter two are the worst.

No Controls
Yellow rocket cannot effectively be controlled. One recommendation is to place a first cutting of hay into the silo. This prevents development of blossoms or seeds. Spraying early in spring with 2,4-D amine also may help.

There is no spray control for white cockle. Tillage is the only control measure.

Another weed which gives urban gardeners troubles is chickweed, Outagamie County Agent John E. Powers says. A picture and description accompanies this story.

Complete spraying information and recommended treatment is available at any Fox Cities area county agent's office.

Boar Sale Rules Told at Chilton

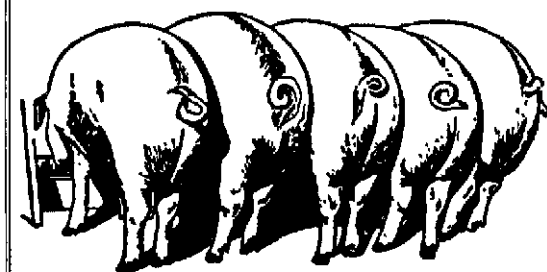

Chilton — Consignment requirements for the 1960 Calumet county weanling boar sale were announced this week. The sale will begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Calumet arena.

To be qualified, pigs must be farrowed after Feb. 1 and weigh at least 40 pounds at eight weeks. A $2 entry fee will be charged for each pig consigned. The fee covers the expense of the sale and should be submitted at the time of consignment. Consignment limitations are two boars or one boar and one gilt. Pigs must be vaccinated at the farm prior to the sale and must be eligible for registry.

Sober Picture Drawn

Post-Crescent News Service

Fond du Lac — A sobering picture of continuing increases in national milk production coupled with a stabilization of per capita consumption has been drawn here by the manager of the big Pure Milk Products cooperative.

Milk output will rise substantially during the next five or 10 years, while per capita use won't, said William C. Eckles, operating head of the producers cooperative.

It may be difficult, moreover, to maintain per capita consumption levels for such basic dairy products as butter-fat and solids-not-fat, he warned.

Eckles said he drew his conclusions from a report prepared by U. S. department of agriculture economists for the U. S. senate committee on agriculture.

More Consumption
The hope for a higher total consumption of dairy foods comes from the prospective increase in the population of the country—estimated to continue at 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 persons a year—and subsidized disposal, he wrote in a bulletin to farmer members.

Eckles cautioned his members to watch the position of parties and candidates carefully in this new campaign year.

"Substantially improved farm income cannot be accomplished unless there is a much more highly organized agriculture at the farm level or the government takes a more active part in the balancing of agricultural supplies and consumption," he suggested.

7 Swine Breeders Show at Reedsville

Chilton — Seven Calumet county swine breeders exhibiting at the Feeder Pig Show at Reedsville April 7 were Arthur Zahn, route 1, Chilton; Henry Peihan, Glenroy Boll and Patrick Meier, route 2, Chilton; Robert Schwabenlander, route 2, Hilbert; Robert Hemminger, route 1, New Holstein and Norbert Geiger, route 1, Brillion.

Their consignments were purchased by the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing cooperative and will be fed out at the cooperative's Francis Creek test station. This gives the producers an opportunity to see what kind of market hogs their herds will produce.

The feeding results will be disclosed at a June 30 field day at the test stations.

May Devoted to Rural Electric Co-op Work

Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson has officially designated May as rural electrification month in Wisconsin, in recognition of the REA's 25th anniversary.

Former Gov. Philip LaFollette, who held office when the REA was created by order of President Roosevelt, was present for the executive office ceremony. So were a number of state leaders and pioneers in the REA movement.

LaFollette agreed with Nelson that the contributions of REA "have been unexcelled by any group at any time in the state."

"The REA is just an adaptation of something very old—neighborliness, as in a barn raising," LaFollette said. "Times have changed, but they've only changed the machinery."

Government incentive payments for wool produced at home. Funds for these payments come from tariffs on foreign wool imports.

Plans Completed For Dairy Month

Plans for the 1960 June dairy month were crystalized at a meeting of representatives of the three co-sponsoring organizations. The observance is under the leadership of the Wisconsin department of agriculture, the Wisconsin American Dairy association and the University of Wisconsin, college of agriculture extension division.

Committees are being set up in every county to handle projects on a local basis. One of the highlights of the county programs will be a kickoff breakfast or dinner June 1. They will replace the statewide luncheon in other years.

Present plans call for the pinpointing of several dairy products during the four weeks of the campaign. Cheese and cottage cheese the first week, ice cream and butter the second, milk and butter the third and ice cream and cheese the fourth week.

Harry Dix, Menomonie, a member of the board of agriculture, is chairman of 1960 dairy month.

Spring Brings New Duties To Farmer

BY MRS. ARTHUR RITCHIE

Spring brings new duties to the farmer as he plans his crops and prepares to plant seed.

There have been many changes in the last 50 years. Horses collars were scrapped and cleaned to prevent sore shoulders when the real work began 50 years ago.

The harnesses were taken apart, washed, hanged to dry, then dipped in tanks of harness oil and left a short time. The harness was then re-assembled and ready when the fields were dry enough to work.

Today tractors are taken out of sheds, and perhaps, taken to a garage for an overhaul.

Farm yard gates needed looking after before the cattle were turned out.

New Holstein Farmer to Head Swine Breeders

Chilton — Earl Hildebrandt, route 1, New Holstein, was elected president of the Calumet County Swine Breeders association at a recent organizational meeting of the group's board of directors.

Other officers are Ross Hacker, route 1, Brillhon, vice president; Leslie Schaeff, route 2, Hilbert, secretary, and Roy Wenzel, route 1, Hilbert, treasurer. Robert He-mauer, route 1, New Holstein, was appointed to fill the un-expired board term of Leonard Pethan, route 2, Chilton.

In other business the board made plans for the 1960 wean-ling boar and gilt sales Tues-day in the Calumet arena here. It will be a joint sale with the Calumet county and State Swine Breeders' asso-ciations cooperating.

Darold Drew, county agent at large, expects good breed-ing stock to be consigned to the sale since many of the top breeders in the state and will be represented.

State Praises Wool Co-op for Achievements

Of Possibilities of Group Marketing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — As the pioneering Wisconsin Cooperative Wool Growers' association enters its 30th year, it is being hailed in cooperative circles as one of the most persuasive examples of the possibilities of group marketing by Wisconsin farm producers.

The cooperative, which has been led for 30 years by Roy Richards, one of its founders, operates from a Milwaukee headquarters and now accounts for 75 per cent of all the wool raised in the state, according to the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture.

Volume Rises

Its volume has risen from 200,000 in its first year to about 1,412,000 pounds this year. About 6,300 farmers compose the group. Nationally only about 20 per cent of all wool is produced and marketed cooperatively.

Says the cooperative federation in a current bulletin:

"Born of trial and necessity, the cooperative came into being as a 1930 depression baby. 'Wool marketing had become a catch-as-catch-can operation. It was more a procedure of dumping than of marketing. Quality got little consideration. Prices were at a low ebb. Dealers often handled on an accommodation basis. Something had to be done."

Noon - hour service was started as a service to farmers.
